

Two Mouths—Fisherman's Dream

Believe it or not, Lee Hallberg, radio outdoor commentator, is holding a two-mouthed fish. The fish has the head of a coho salmon; and what a head! Gertrude Paul, of Cowichan Bay, took the hungry salmon. Dr. Clifford Carl, of the Provincial Museum, will be presented with the fish, and maybe he'll find it has two stomachs.

B.C. LIBERALS HOLD IMPORTANT PARLEY

Federal, Provincial Party Members Seek Decision on Definite Date for Convention

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17 (CP)—B.C. Provincial Liberals, bolstered by leading federal Liberals in this province, sat down today in their most important party session since the Social Credit Party removed them from government in B.C.

The session is that of the advisory council of B.C. Liberal Association. Scheduled for preliminary discussion was the choice of a new provincial party leader and forthcoming by-elections in Columbia and Similkameen.

Scheduled for immediate decision, however, was a definite date for the party convention at which the new leader will be selected and strategy for the next provincial election determined.

The council met behind closed doors guarded by a commissionaire.

The few delegates who would comment before entering the meeting predicted a "hot session," particularly when James Sinclair, newly appointed to the federal cabinet, rose to speak.

Mr. Sinclair and Ralph Campbell, also elevated to the federal cabinet this week, arrived by plane from the east.

Present party leader Byron I. "Boss" Johnson arrived with Mrs. Johnson, but was non-committal. Chairman was Mrs. J. L. Gates of Victoria, association president.

One young member said before entering the meeting: "There's only one thing to be decided, and that's the date of the convention." "Why wait and set our convention after the Social Credit convention? We need leadership now."

THE MARKET

Gains in western oil stocks featured the Canadian markets today.

The oils led an advance from the opening gun and price gains were held firmly to the close.

At Toronto the index of western oil stocks moved up two points and shares of industrial and base metal companies also gained.

Except for the oils, price changes were small but spread over the entire range of the Canadian markets.

WIRES CROSSED?

Bennett Says Central High Will Get Funds

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today gave his assurance that provincial funds will be available for construction of the new Central Junior High School and Lansdowne Junior High School "when final plans are submitted to the education department and approved."

He made the statement following a disclosure in the Times on Thursday that plans for the new schools were threatened with delay because the government intended to wait until more money is voted for school construction by the Legislature next spring.

The Times' story was based on a letter the Department of Education sent to the Greater Victoria School Board, which said government funds will be available this year for construction of the Macdonald Park primary school, but that no other grants will be made in the present fiscal year.

The school board interpreted this as meaning the government would not make its 50 per cent grant this year towards the cost of building the two proposed junior high schools.

"We were very apprehensive that the construction on Central Junior High might have been delayed," Richard H. Reeve, school board chairman, said today. "We are very glad to hear that funds will be available."

PLANS READY

He said plans and specifications would be presented to the government for approval next week. The accommodation, he said, was needed badly.

Premier Bennett, who was speaking in the absence of Education Minister Tilly Rolston, said today he knew nothing of the letter.

He explained, however, that the school board has not submitted final plans for the new structures to the education department for approval.

"The government cannot make its 50 per cent grant until these final plans are submitted and approved. That has always been the system," Premier Bennett stressed.

When the board submits the final plans, "and they have been approved," he said the money will be made available.

Asked if the money would be available in the present fiscal year (ends March 31, 1953), Premier Bennett replied:

"There is no question about the fiscal year at all. The money will be available when the final plans are submitted and approved."

WON'T STALL

He emphasized that the government has taken no step to stall the projects.

Government's share in the cost of Central is roughly $600,000, and Lansdowne $300,000.

The board had expected to make a start on the new Central Junior High by the first week in November. The plans are now completed for this school, and in a list of approved school projects announced Aug. 12 by Education Minister Rolston, there was $736,000 allotted for the Central High.

With regard to the Lansdowne School the preparation of plans is in a less advanced stage so that it may be some little time before they can be submitted to the government for approval.

Quebec Police Catch Shotgun Killer Suspect

THREE RIVERS, Que., Oct. 17 (CP)—Police today surrounded a tent on a lonely St. Lawrence River island and captured one of two Polish immigrants sought in connection with the shotgun slaying of a service station proprietor three weeks ago.

They identified the suspect as Maksymilian Ciesla, 21, and said he surrendered without resistance, though armed with two rifles.

There was no immediate indication of the whereabouts of Ryszard Cisowsky, sought with Ciesla after Aurelien Houle was slain in an attempted holdup of his restaurant-service station at Yamaska East, Sept. 25.

The names of the dead and injured are being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Defense headquarters says 19 of the 21 men were hospitalized, including the officer, a second lieutenant. One man returned to duty.

Few details of the accident are available. Reports received in Ottawa by army headquarters say the accident was caused by the explosion of an unidentified object.

EISENHOWER IGNORES ADLAI

Ike 'Morally Blind', Condones Nazi Practices, Truman Claims

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—President Truman said today Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "has had an attack of moral blindness" and is willing to accept Nazi practices although he had a leading role in freeing Europe from Nazi domination.

The accusation, one of the bitterest the President has ever directed against the Republican presidential candidate, was made in a speech prepared for reading before the National Jewish Welfare Board in Washington.

Truman himself is whistling through New England, where he said in an address prepared for a Lawrence, Mass., audience that Eisenhower "appears to be willing to undermine our safety if that will get him elected President."

The reference to Nazi practices came as the President attacked the McCarran Immigration Bill, passed by Congress over his veto. He said the bill adds up to "the philosophy of racial superiority developed by the Nazis."

Truman then went on to mention Republican senators who helped push the measure through Congress, adding that Eisenhower can not "escape responsibility" because he is now endorsing these same senators.

One of the senators Truman mentioned was Richard Nixon, Eisenhower's running mate.

Eisenhower, virtually ignoring his Democratic opponent, Governor Adlai Stevenson, continued to lash out at the Truman administration's record of spending, Korea, corruption, and what he said was its failure to get "a better peace."

Stevenson, in California, described the Republican policy toward Korea as one of "scuttle and run."

Eisenhower said in Paterson, N.J., Thursday night there could be no perfect peace as long as "the godless doctrine of Communism" remains strong, but he said Americans have a right to demand: "Why have we not a better peace than we have?"

The general said "America is still marked with indelible evidence as Communism's final and greatest victim-to-be," but he added that under proper leadership the U.S. need not fear: "The strength of the enemy... cannot match our own at its best."

STRIKE WILL NOT HALT LOCAL SOCCER FIXTURE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17 (CP)—Jock Hendry, president of the Pacific Coast Soccer League, may take the whistle himself and referee a game here Saturday.

A dispute over fees for referees remained unsettled today and it was reported substitutes may be used in three games scheduled for Saturday.

Hendry, a qualified referee, is reported ready to handle the game between Firefighters and Vancouver City at Callister Park.

Referees are asking $12 and linesmen $5 a game while the league is only willing to pay $8 and $4.

Manager George Eade of Victoria United said today that his club's scheduled game with North Shore at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon "will go on anyway. There's no doubt about that."

Eade said he expected the issue between the Coast League and the referees would be settled tonight.

Tanks, Artillery Out As Indonesians Riot

15,000 Demand Parliament Dissolve; Business in Capital at Standstill

By JACK MACBETH

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 17 (AP)—Thousands of Indonesians rioted in Indonesia's capital today in the wake of a parliamentary vote censuring Defense Minister Hamengku Buwono IX, the popular sultan of Jogjakarta.

Order was restored after President Soekarno assured the rioters that their demands for parliament's dissolution would be considered. But the capital remained tense as rumors spread that the government might fall and the military high command imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Several thousand persons mobbed the residence of The Netherlands high commissioner, tore down the Dutch flag flying there and ripped it to shreds. Many carried placards demanding the recall of the Dutch military mission.

Government tanks and artillery rolled into the heart of Jakarta as some 15,000 demonstrators congregated around the parliament building at dawn and demanded the legislature be dissolved. Troops and tanks took up positions around the building and around Soekarno's palace.

Doukhobors Flee Night Raiders

56 Leave Boundary Homes To Take Refuge on Island

Fear of hooded night raiders in the Boundary District is increasing the size of Hilliers, a Doukhobor colony west of Nanaimo on Vancouver Island.

Fifty-six Doukhobors are reported to have fled their homes near Grand Forks in the Interior to take refuge in the tiny island village.

A spokesman for the group said they no longer could live in the midst of tension and hostility brought about by the radical Sons of Freedom segment of the religious sect.

Twelve Doukhobor men, women and children fled the area last week and another 44 left the interior this week for the island settlement.

The move came without the permission of bearded Stefan Sorokin, spiritual leader of the Doukhobors who is attempting to speed up the government's plan to relocate the sect in another area.

The newcomers to the Hilliers settlement could not estimate how many marauders were active in the area or whether they were orthodox Doukhobors or Freedomites. However, they said that the activities centered around the tiny settlement of Gilpin, six miles from Grand Forks, and that the whole area was in a state of terror.

No violence was reported, but months ago Sorokin admitted he no longer had control over a portion of his followers and warned that trouble was brewing.

Core of the unrest centered around the continued imprisonment of several Doukhobors for acts of violence, arson and parading in the nude.

The influx into the Hilliers colony was expected to pose a problem of accommodation in the already overcrowded settlement.

There are about 10,000 Doukhobors in British Columbia, the Sons of Freedom forming a minority group of about 2,000 members.

A government committee recommended last May a $1,000,000 relocation plan for the radical members of the religious sect whose first members came from Russia in 1899.

Under the plan the Sons of Freedom would be moved to new farmland settlements, far from the Kootenays in British Columbia or to another colony.

At the time, the committee warned that violence might break out afresh in the Kootenays, 250 miles east of Vancouver, unless immediate reforms were undertaken in the Doukhobor colonies.

For 50 years there has been strife in the Doukhobor communities, the radical members blamed for many acts of terrorism and destruction of property by fire-raiders.

Committee Will Review Butte Lake Question

The provincial government is planning to appoint a special legislative committee, representing all political parties, to review the contentious Butte Lake question.

It was reported today the appointment will be made at the spring session of the legislature. The committee will study the issue and make recommendations to the government.

The Butte Lake dam is wanted by the B.C. Power Commission to provide additional water storage for the John Hart power development at Campbell River.

The project was approved by Water Comptroller E. H. Tedcroft, after a public hearing, and the legislature in the dying stages of the last session also gave approval.

But construction of the dam has never been started because final government approval, in the form of an order-in-council, has never been given.

Pearson Beaten On First Ruling

By N. ALTSTEDTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 17 (CP)—The United Nations Assembly today overrode bitter South African objections and voted overwhelmingly to discuss racial conflict in South Africa.

The vote was 46 to 6, with eight countries—including Canada—abstaining.

Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa recently warned that his country would withdraw from the U.N. if the world organization continued "interfering" in South African affairs.

G. P. Jooste, leader of the South African delegation, did not indicate immediately what action South Africa will take in view of the vote.

PRESIDENT DEFEATED

A ruling by Assembly President L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, earlier was defeated when put to the assembly by a vote of 43 to 10, with seven abstentions.

Pearson had ruled that the Assembly should vote first on a South African proposal that the Assembly was not competent to deal with the question.

Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia followed other delegates to the speaker's stand to slam Pearson's ruling. The Russian said the Canadian was trying to "usurp" the authority of the Assembly and that it was an "ill omen" for the session.

Jooste told the Assembly before the vote that any discussion of racial conflict in South Africa would bring the U.N. "closer to its own disintegration."

Iran Break With Britain Not Confirmed

LONDON, Oct. 17 (UP)—The British foreign office said late Thursday night it had not received any official confirmation of the breaking off of Anglo-Iranian relations.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh in a broadcast to the Iranian people Thursday said he had decided to sever relations with Britain in a dispute over the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

RADAR GUARDS ROYAL FAMILY, TIMES MAGAZINE STORY SAYS

Franksters and intruders offer one of the greatest problems to be faced by security officers in protecting the Queen and her household when millions throng to London for the Coronation ceremonies.

A dozen intruders in the last two years included a sportive drunk who tried to run off with a diplomatic box, an armed man who broke into Marlborough House and stabbed Queen Mary's housekeeper and a man from a mental home who was found wandering in Buckingham Palace grounds with a key which unlocked nearly every gate in the compound.

How radar is being used to trap such intruders is told in a magazine article in tomorrow's Victoria Daily Times.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Quiet is requested for those who are dreaming. Tread softly, please. I'm deep in the ivy like a sparrow's nest and I'd like to stay that way a while longer.

Maybe you'll forgive me. I get this way whenever I see a group of people in university gowns and hoods. Mentally I fall to my knees and bow my forehead to the ground three times. Just a peasant tugging his forelock, I guess.

Or maybe I'm only a guy who's so proud of his hometown college he's worried his sentiment may be showing. A person's a little sensitive on that point. It isn't quite seemly, or perhaps not masculine enough.

Still, if you'd been at the ceremony opening Victoria College's observance of its 50th anniversary week, you'd probably understand my attitude. An event like that helps to renew faith. It's a sort of reward for a pilgrimage out of the materialism and commercialism of the day. Up at college this week they don't appear to be selling anything and it's hard to detect any what's-in-it-for-meism.

Not that they're way up in the clouds. They want money. They want it to fill shelves in the library opened in the Dr. John M. Ewing Memorial Building Wednesday evening. But they aren't sticking a gun at anybody's head or whispering that they can get something for you

On Wednesday night they were mainly saying thanks for the intellectual and spiritual heritage given to the college by the generous minds of an earlier day and expressing the conviction that the generations of today and tomorrow would uphold the ideals that have shone there for the last half century.

Sentimental Journey

Call it a sentimental journey if you like. That's probably what it was. But there were some pretty imposing landmarks along the way.

They talked of Dr. Edward B. Paul, of Percy Elliott and Dr. Ewing. If you happened to be responsive to such things, you traced through them a continuing chain of scholarship that seemed to ride above the material preparations one speaker said college gave students to help them make a living.

You probably wondered where you had heard a more graceful tribute to teachers than Fred Wood gave those who instructed the first class in 1903, or where you had heard more friendly reference to classmates than he accorded his fellow students of that year.

You probably understood Jeff Cunningham's philosophy better than ever before after he'd added hope to the appeal of reason in a world of scientific advancement. You felt the genuine pride Principal Harry Hickman expressed in former students who had gone out and on to distinction all over the world. You listened to President Larry MacKenzie of U.B.C. explain co-operation in higher education and the honored place he and his colleagues gave Victoria College and its students.

For a while the purpose of university work gleamed in a pure flame to guide humanity. You were touched briefly, or thought you were touched, by the appreciations that must belong to teachers and professors who have helped young students along the way, encouraging the inquiring mind and finding satisfaction in its expression.

You listened to Willard Ireland and W. T. Straith in the library itself and learned of their desire to have students at least exposed to good art and good reading as well as to reference works that would help them to see subjects from different approaches.

Breath of the Humanities

The breath of the humanities seemed to pass over you as you heard men who had been thinking speak with the substance of thought.

You looked at members of the class of 1903, noted their physical and mental vigor and realized that half a century was a short time in the life of a college—a time short enough to permit the students of what seems an early day to appreciate the outlooks and attitudes of students of the present.

And yet you probably had that feeling of being pleasantly deep in the ivy, too. Or am I still just tugging my forelock?

Boyd Says He Won't Try To Escape Kingston Jail

TORONTO, Oct. 17 (CP)—Jailbreaker Edwin Boyd was taken to Kingston penitentiary today to start serving a life sentence for bank robbery. He said he won't try to escape again.

Inspector John Nimmo and Sheriff J. D. Conover were in charge of the patrol wagon in which the 38-year-old Boyd set out from Don Jail early today with a police escort.

With Boyd, leader of a notorious bank robbery and jail-breaking gang, went William R. Jackson, 27, sentenced to 20 years on two charges of bank robbery and scheduled also to complete a seven-year term imposed on him last year for assault and robbery.

Before leaving, Boyd signed a waiver giving up his right to appeal against his convictions or sentence. He said in an interview that he will not try to break out of Kingston, about 85 miles east of here.

Meanwhile, it was announced the $25,000 reward money for the capture of the Boyd gang after the Sept. 8 jailbreak will be distributed to the "right parties" as soon as the Ontario government decides who they are.

Boyd and three members of his gang were recaptured in an old barn in North York town-

Allied Troops Take Huge Toll

Reds Suffer 10,186 Casualties As Hill Assaults Hurdled Back

SEOUL, Oct. 17 (AP)—Nearly 1,000 Chinese troops assaulted Sniper Ridge on the central Korean front tonight under Red artillery fire so intense the South Korean defenders couldn't measure it.

Chinese and South Koreans closed in a hand-to-hand fight for Pinpoint Hill, centre peak on Sniper Ridge northwest of Kumwha. Late reports said the Koreans still held control of Pinpoint.

But to the west, South Koreans 9th Division troops pulled off Iron Horse Hill at dark.

Communist dead littered the frost-whitened battlefields as Red casualties mounted to record 1952 totals. In the bloody week ended Tuesday, the United States Eighth Army estimated the Communists lost 10,186 soldiers. The total—highest since last November—included 5,868 killed, 4,258 wounded and 60 captured.

DIG UP DEAD

South Korean soldiers searched White Horse Hill in Chorwon Valley and reported digging up 7,147 Chinese bodies buried under loose dirt and hidden in bunkers.

The 9th Division estimated an additional 3,439 Reds were killed and 1,067 wounded in the battle to control a major division route to South Korea.

Communist Peiping radio claimed 8,000 Allied troops were "annihilated" in intense Red counter-attacks from Oct. 6-11. The broadcast said the Communists shot down 38 Allied planes and damaged 32 others during the period. No official Allied report on casualties or aircraft losses has been issued.

The Eighth Army said U.S. troops since Tuesday on Triangle Hill had killed or wounded 3,750 Chinese.

Triangle and nearby Sniper Ridge were the goals of the biggest Allied attack since last November. The fighting has swirled around these two peaks for three days.

A.P. correspondent Milo Farnet reported that 1,500 Reds launched six futile attacks against Triangle between 8 p.m. Tuesday and dawn Friday. He said the U.S. 7th Division killed or wounded an estimated 630 Communists in all-night fighting.

The average temperature over the entire earth is about 45 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

C.C.F. TO SEEK ALL VANCOUVER CIVIC SEATS

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17 (CP)—The C.C.F. is reported to have tentative plans to contest the mayorality and all city council, park and school board seats in Vancouver in the December civic elections.

The party's civic affairs committee has scheduled two important meetings. A platform to be offered voters will be drawn up at the first meeting Oct. 31. Candidates will be nominated at the second meeting, Nov. 6.

There has not yet been any suggestion as to who the party will pick to oppose Mayor Fred Hume, considered almost certain to be a candidate again.

A complete demonstration of the latest in prismatic light control by a specialist engineer in this field will be given at the first meeting next Tuesday of the 1952-53 season of the Illuminating Engineering Society at the B.C. Vishinsky Expected to Set Off Explosive Korea Debate at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky kept the United Nations waiting today for the Red fireworks he is expected to touch off in replying to Dean Acheson's plea for a concerted U.N. effort to end the Korean war.

The Soviet foreign minister was not scheduled to speak today, and he told reporters he did not know when he would address the general assembly.

"Maybe never," he added with a sly grin.

Poland was the first Iron Curtain country listed for the assembly's general debate today, drawing fourth place in a tentative line-up of five countries to speak. But Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzewski of Poland was not expected to steal Vishinsky's thunder by replying to the major American foreign policy speech State Secretary Acheson made to the assembly Thursday.

Before these speeches the assembly was to take up the proposal to include on its agenda the Asian-Arab bloc's charge of racial discrimination in South Africa.

Acheson Thursday urged "every member of the United Nations . . . to support the common action in Korea" and pledged a fight to the finish against aggression.

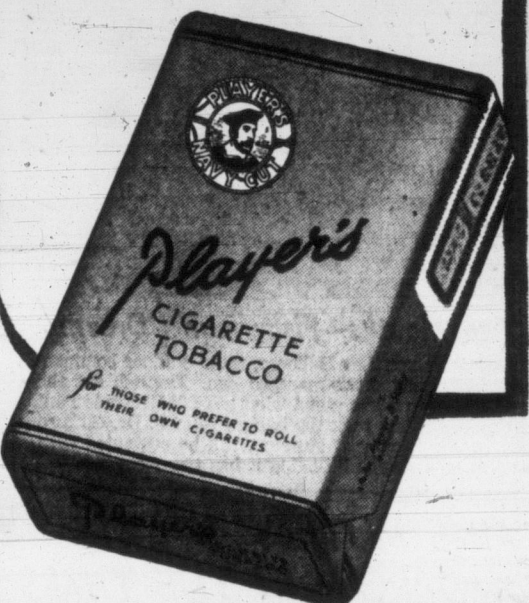

"We shall fight on as long as is necessary to stop the aggression and to restore peace and security to Korea," Acheson said. "We shall stop fighting when an armistice on just terms has been achieved."

The secretary asked for more help—troops, food, clothing, material and money—for the U.N. forces.

"We must convince the aggressor," he declared, "that continued fighting in Korea will cost him more than he can gain."

Roman senators were appointed for life and expelled from office only for some dishonorable cause.

Hottest debate touched off by the hydrogen bomb is over whether it should be used against civilian industrial centers. Some contend that because one bomb can destroy an entire army, it will not be necessary to hit production points. Others argue that because of the H-bomb armies will be decentralized and that the use of one "city-buster" is no more immoral than the use of ten A-bombs or thousands of block-busters and fire-bombs.

In a war against the U.S., Russia, with only three or four cities boasting a population of a million or more, would find strategic bombing an attractive proposition. Soviet industry is largely dispersed, while U.S. industry is highly concentrated in some 40 cities, 11 of which have one million or more inhabitants. Map above shows likely U.S. targets for Soviet H-bombs.

Soldiers Foil Work Of Fire-Bug Suspect

An attempt to set what might have been a dangerous bush fire in the area west of Point Ellice Bridge, at Bay and Tyee Road, was frustrated by two senior N.C.O.'s of the Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment Thursday night.

Sgt. Maj. Ron J. Bland, 550 Prince Robert Drive, was driving home across Point Ellice Bridge at 10:40 p.m. after a battalion training session at Bay Street Armory when he and passenger Sgt. Fred Barker, spotted a small fire in the bushes northwest of the intersection of Bay and Tyee.

"As we approached a young man, about 21 years old, ran away from the fire scene," said Sgt. Maj. Bland. While Sgt. Barker stamped out the fire, the sergeant-major endeavored to see where the fleeing man went, but lost sight of him in the dense brush bordering Tyee Road.

The reserve army soldiers found a pile of grass had been collected to start the blaze.

The soldiers reported to the police. They told police the man they saw running from the fire wore what appeared to be a green silk blazer and glasses.

Saanich Native Son, G. T. Butler, Passes

Funeral services for Geoffrey Thomas Butler, 75, a native son of Saanich, who died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on Thursday, will be held Saturday at 1:30 at Hayward's chapel.

Mr. Butler was chief ranger of the I.O.O.F. and had been associated with Scott & Peden for over 30 years.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, George and Howard in Victoria, and Neil in Vancouver; three sisters, Mrs. May H. Ludlow and Mrs. Dora Clark of West Saanich Road, and Mrs. Gladys Gabb, Alberta, and one brother, William, of Keating Cross Road.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. L. W. McLean.

Victoria Shipyard Workers Accept Award

Joint Shipyard Council, representing 11 trade unions in Victoria yards, Thursday night voted to accept a majority conciliation board recommendation for a pay increase of 12½ cents per hour. Shipyard operators have not yet made their decision on the award known. Last word from the operators, however, was that they wanted the 1951 contract adopted, which would call for no increase in pay. About 1,300 men are involved in the Victoria negotiations.

Meanwhile, the closing of two Vancouver shipyards has been postponed following a request from mainland unions for further negotiations. The yards were scheduled to close today.

Do You Want Higher Taxes?

THE C.C.F. PROPOSES TO circulate throughout Canada a petition reading roughly like this: "Are you in favor of national health insurance?" Thus asked, the question is likely to receive a large affirmative answer.

But if the public is to know what it is voting on the petition should read about as follows: "Are you in favor of national health insurance at the cost of increasing income taxes by at least 50 per cent?" Asked thus, the question undoubtedly would be answered with a thundering "No."

The Ottawa experts who have been studying health insurance for many years calculate that it would cost about $30 per year for every man, woman and child in the population. The total cost would thus be $420 millions a year. That is certainly a conservative estimate, made before all costs reached their present high level.

In the last fiscal year all personal income taxes in Canada amounted to $980 millions. The cost of health insurance is thus equivalent to roughly half that figure. Now the C.C.F. will say that health insurance does not necessarily have to be financed by a 50 per cent increase in income taxes. Of course not. But however the money is collected, however the collection is disguised through sales taxes or other methods, it will come out of the people's income. And even if the cost is split between federal and provincial governments the same taxpayer will pay it.

Health insurance is a highly desirable service. Most Canadians, we suppose, favor it in principle. So does the present federal government. But when the government looked at its present budget and tax rates and then at the cost of health insurance it recoiled in understandable alarm. As Mr. St. Laurent said in his recent western tour, this country cannot afford to increase its present budget and tax rates. Most Canadians undoubtedly agree with the prime minister on that score.

Some people may still imagine, however, that the government is so fat with revenue surpluses that it could pay for health insurance without raising taxes. The current surplus stood at about $300 millions after the first half of the fiscal year. That would not be enough to pay for health insurance. Mr. Abbott says, however, that the surplus is melting and will disappear before the year's end as the delayed defense bills roll in.

Anyway, the Canadian people are demanding and expecting at least some reduction in taxes during the next year. Clearly we cannot have any tax reduction and must face a huge tax increase if we are to undertake health insurance in the immediate future.

The time for it will come when the cost of defense tapers off. Meanwhile when the C.C.F. circulates its petition the public will be wise to remember the figures of cost and taxes which will not be mentioned on the face of this attractive document.

Perhaps He Knew Too Much

THE RECENT KREMLIN demand that the United States recall Ambassador George F. Kennan must be interpreted as an exhibition of weakness rather than strength.

Kennan is one of a comparatively small group of westerners who understand Russia and the Russian people. There was every indication when he presented his credentials to the Kremlin last May 14 that he was commencing a successful renewal of direct contact with the Soviet and that in his new official capacity he would provide an effective link between the governments concerned.

His previous record reads like a Baedeker. In various junior diplomatic posts he had represented the United States in Hamburg, Tallinn, Riga, Kovno, Berlin, Vienna, Prague, Lisbon and other European centres.

His services included work under Ambassador Bullitt in Moscow in 1933-34, and as second secretary of that embassy starting in 1935. He was minister-counselor in Moscow in 1945, before undertaking an important job as advisor to the U.S. state department in the post-war years.

But Kennan on his recent return to Moscow found life too oppressive. He could not long contain his concern at the state of quarantine into which western representatives were forced. Contact with the people was practically nil, movement was restricted, actions were under surveillance. The U.S. ambassador likened conditions to those of internment under Hitler.

That was the peg on which the Kremlin hung its objections to the American spokesman. Less than five months after his installation the Soviet government asked for his recall.

It might well be, however, that

Kennan's days were numbered long before he began to chafe under the diplomatic restrictions imposed in Moscow. Russian officialdom was not likely to forget that he, of all men, was instrumental in the shaping of the Truman doctrine of the containment of Communism.

He, then, was a key factor in the development of the present situation, which finds the Soviet without any new territorial gains in the past year, facing united and resolute opposition from the democracies wherever aggression is threatened, and apparently depending on internal disintegration of the democracies rather than Soviet intervention to effect further extensions of the Communist empire.

Small wonder that Mr. Kennan soon became persona non grata! His departure from Moscow leaves a vacancy that evidently will not be filled by the present United States government, and possibly not by the administration to be elected next month. Whether the United States will retaliate by requesting recall of the Soviet ambassador at Washington will also likely await decision by the next president.

It is not the first time that diplomatic representation between the two countries has been disrupted. And relations between them are at present of a nature not likely to suffer much by reducing official exchanges from the ambassadorial level to a relay of messages by chief clerks.

The most important fact arising from the incident appears to be that Moscow has directed renewed attention to the treatment of foreigners in the U.S.S.R. The Kremlin's fear of contact between Russians and the outside world has been highlighted, and disclosure of fear is evidence of a weakness.

Where Does B.C.H.I.S. Stand Now?

ON SEPTEMBER 9 HEALTH Minister Eric Martin announced relaxation of penalties against defaulters under the B.C. Hospital Insurance Scheme. Those who could pay up their arrears were expected to pay. Those who could not would not be prosecuted and would be reinstated following a two weeks' waiting period after they had resumed current payments.

No clear explanation was made at that time of the status in which the change had placed the scheme. By excusing defaulters, did the government eliminate the compulsory features of the insurance scheme? The government did not admit that. But the public was left with the impression that if it didn't want to pay, it could get away without paying.

Over a period of some weeks it has been still further confused by the reduction in premiums, extension of benefits to dependents, elimination of lump-sum co-insurance and institution of a dollar a day charge.

When Health Minister Martin appeared before the Union of B.C. Municipalities last week he was asked point blank if the government was going to enforce compulsory hospital insurance. He hedged to the effect that "we have to be very careful about this compulsion business, which strikes at the roots of individual liberty." He eventually said B.C. now has compulsory insurance.

At the same time he evaded a question asking why the hospital costs could not be met from some form of taxation, saying "the people will break under too much taxation."

As the situation now stands, the people of British Columbia do not know the government's hospital insurance policy. Does the government

Chips

By DAVID BROCK

ONE of the many advantages of the approach of winter is that you can start demanding split peas, baked beans and other dried and heavy foods. In better weather, people simply stall you off and pretend you don't want what you do want. They say you really want chard instead. What they mean is that the garden is full of chard. It is full because there is no demand for it. But the first frosts take care of that nonsense. The frosts may kill off the runner beans, which is rather a pity. But they make the savory cabbages and the kale and things much better. And they stop people from flooding the chard market. Nobody can object to tender young chard in July. They can't object, because the stuff is almost tasteless. But tough chard in early autumn is absurd.

Brock

YOU may remember how glad Surtees' famous Jorrocks was when he saw the dahlias were dead. This meant there had been a frost, which would improve the fox hunting. I share his joy, but for gastronomic reasons. True, I eat split pea soup all summer, whenever we have ham water to make it with. But it is an effort to get people to make it, and to serve it. With the first frosts, it is no effort at all. And thus with other things, too. Speaking of pea soup, I once saw a small hotel, off by itself in a Californian valley. A big sign outside told me it was "The Original Home of Split Pea Soup." I take leave to doubt that, somehow. Neither the hotel nor the state of California could be a couple of thousand years old, and pea soup must be all of that.

DID you ever try pease pudding? You soak four cups of dried peas overnight. Boil till tender, drain, rub through a sieve. (One of those "food mills" is the handiest way of making any puree.) Beat an egg, and add to the puree with two tablespoons of butter, and salt and pepper. Beat the mixture well for several minutes. The into a flour cloth, with some slack for swelling, and simmer for an hour. Serve with butter. When first boiling the peas, you should really add an onion, and a little thyme, parsley, and bay leaf. This is true of pea soup also. Especially the onion. Let the onion go through the sieve. A clove or two is pleasant.

This pudding sounds dull and plain, but it isn't. It can be served with many meats, etc. Served with hot pickled pork, it is a classical dish, and was a favorite lunch of Edward VII, who knew a thing or two about the old groceries and could get what he liked.

LET THEM REMEMBER THAT

THERE is always something quite charming about the cockeyed logic of drunks, children, and lunatics. Not necessarily because we feel superior to them, either, so just put that theory away, please. The other day a friend and neighbor of mine had carpenters in his house who were driving him crazy. Also, he was extremely worried about a sick relative. Also, his wife was away. Also, it was his duty to keep sampling some stuff he was making in the cellar, to make sure the result, when he hadn't misled him. As a result, when he came into his garden for air (as I passed his gate) he was prettily well anaesthetized. As he was the first to admit, "I don't know what those carpenters think of me," he said ruefully. Then he cheered up. "But heck," says he, "I pay the — for what they think, don't I?"

NUISANCE?

I SEE that a would-be suicide has been charged with being a public nuisance. I don't see how the charge will lie. A man may not be crazy to kill himself. It all depends. But if he falls in the attempt, he is certainly weak in the head, for it should be the easiest job in the world. And if he is off his chump, he can't be convicted of any offense. Perhaps the same case could be made out for murderers who get caught. Those who are caught must be impractical to the point of something or other. As a brother of mine once remarked, "I have absolutely no sympathy with murderers who get caught."

WOOLGATHERING

GENTLEMEN, let us drink to absent minds. Far from laughing and jeering at the absent-minded professors, I feel deeply for them. I suffer from the same disease myself. I suffer when I snap out of it and wonder what I'm doing. And I suffer from the laughter of fools. The Bible says the laughter of fools is like the crackling of thorns under a pot. But I don't find it as appetizing a sound as that. Take today, for example. All I did was take the kindling wood out of the basement and throw it onto the beach, instead of taking the ashes to the beach; pour a little coal into my hand-mill instead of wheat; and try to drive a match into a loose shingle instead of using a nail. And I had the sense to turn the match round, too, so that the head was towards the hammer. Yet do you think I could stop people from laughing? I could not. Sometimes I wonder where they put their wits.

OLD MAN NOMENCLATURE

I WAS invited to select a name for a space-ship which was built by the children on our street. I christened her the S.S. Spacious. The kids hated the name. So I called her Elbow Room, or Room and Jo Spare, because there is lots of room in outer space. In fact, there is enough room to swing a cat, so I called her the Swung Cat. But they laughed and abominated these names also. The heck with them. Let them choose their own name, then. And let them abide in outer space, where names matter not. What does a space-ship's name matter after she's dead, and her silly crew with her? Call her Zero. She's just a blank — same as space itself.

AUTHORITATIVE ANSWER

Last Saturday's question in your column interested me as I knew the Rev. Dr. James Alexander MacDonald (1862-1923). He was a distinguished Presbyterian minister who became editor of The Westminster (Toronto) in 1896, and continued as such till 1902 when he was appointed editor-in-chief of the Toronto Daily Globe. As such he was considered one of the outstanding editors in Canada.

In 1909 he was a delegate to the Imperial Press Conference in London and was given an honorary LL.D. by the University of Glasgow. I recall his brilliant letters, written from Britain at the time, particularly those from the Highlands of Scotland, from which his ancestors had come via Nova Scotia.

I followed him with interest and admiration during my student days in Toronto, 1916-20. My friend, Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, now retired here, must have been a personal friend, as they were both Presbyterian ministers in Ontario around the turn of the century.

KOREAN FUND

Local residents are invited to "open their hearts" to the third annual appeal for funds to send Christmas comforts to B.C. and Canadian boys fighting in Korea. The fund, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, opens on October 20, and donations of any amount (even a dime) are most welcome.

Contributions may be forwarded to the Korean Christmas Fund, The Women's Auxiliary, P.P.C.L.I., c/o Toronto General Trust Corporation, 590 West Pender Street, Vancouver 1, B.C.

The work of the women's auxiliary is far-reaching. Besides sending comforts, both as Christmas and each month of the year, the ladies visit patients from Korea in Shaughnessy Hospital at Vancouver; they meet planes, trains and boats and serve refreshments to returning veterans; they also sponsor a Christmas party for children of the men who cannot be home with their loved ones during the festive season.

The objective is $3,000 and donations to this worthy cause are deductible for income tax purposes.

CIVIC VOTERS

There are a number of people in British Columbia, who do not know that after they turn 60 years of age, that they are legally entitled to vote in all civic elections. All they have to do is go down to the City Hall and the city clerk will put them on the list. It won't cost one cent.

In other cases anyone who pays a road tax, or poll tax, either one, is entitled to a vote in each city or municipality in B.C. in which they live. It will also be necessary to register. This must be done before October 31, or up to that date.

In addition may I also state he or she must be a British subject over 21 years and have lived here since January 1, 1952.

Property owners all go on automatically, in case some don't know that. Those asked to register are householders and licensees not on the list last year also.

Never were votes so important as they will be at this next election in the city of Victoria, B.C. Vote for the right people.

Remedy for War

Toronto Telegram

Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside is reported to have told a Buffalo audience that it is "futile to secure world safety by military means first," that aid to impoverished peoples is a cheaper means of preventing war than armaments, and that the ratio of $100 for defense to $1 for assistance to indigent nations is completely unsatisfactory.

This suggests that poverty and ignorance are the chief threats to peace, that elimination of these would prevent war, and that expenditure on arms should be determined by expenditure on aid to backward peoples. None of these suggestions is justified by experience.

The wars of the past were not caused by poverty and distress, but by ambition, covetousness, fear, jealousy and hatred in the richest and most powerful peoples.

A contributing cause in many cases—the Second World War and the Korean war for example—was lack of preparation in peace-loving countries.

It is for this reason, and because one powerful group of nations wishes to dominate the world, that peaceful peoples put military preparation first.

There is grave danger in the poverty and ignorance of backward peoples; and it is necessary to eliminate these evils as fast and fully as possible. It would be futile, however, to try and eliminate the evils without taking steps to protect the countries concerned, for once a nation is taken into the Communist camp it is beyond help from peace-loving peoples and becomes an additional instrument in the hands of the aggressors.

Nothing can now be done for the peoples in the satellite states, for the populations of the destroyed Baltic States, or for the Chinese under the Peiping government.

Eisenhower—Old or New?

By JOSEPH ALSOP, with the Eisenhower Party

THE important thing to realize about Gen. Eisenhower's campaign is that a working theory lies behind it. In these last weeks, the General has said and done a good many things that have seemed out of character. He has gone so far, in fact, that Col. Robert R. McCormick, the bitterest enemy of everything Eisenhower has been presumed to stand for, has now joyfully hailed "the new Eisenhower."

Yet if the Colonel understood this working theory being followed by Eisenhower and his intimate staff, he might not be so jubilant about the General's apparent transformation.

Alsop

In brief, Eisenhower was appalled by the sheer violence of the fight within the Republican party, which he only discovered when he was rudely plunged into practical politics. It seemed to Eisenhower then, and it seems to him now, that the two party system itself could be destroyed by this violence.

Both he and such members of his staff as Gov. Sherman Adams and Sen. Fred Seaton, have always before their eyes the spectre of the collapse of the two party system in the event of a Republican defeat this year.

They argue that another Republican defeat will give Sen. Robert A. Taft and his partisans full control of the party machinery, if only by default. They argue further that the more respectable Republican conservatives, even Sen. Taft himself—will be quite unable to dominate this altered Republican party.

The men who will really be in the driver's seat, they say, will be the breed of right-wing rabble-rousers—men of the stripe of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and Sen. William Jenner.

The ugly words, "fascist party," have been known to be whispered in the inner recesses of the Eisenhower train. Men haunted by such a spectre are naturally inclined to make sacrifices to expediency, in order to avoid the thing they so much fear. Moreover, such sacrifices to expediency, rightly or wrongly, seemed relatively safe to the Eisenhower strategists, for still another reason.

PUBLIC PERSONALITY

After a bad start, Eisenhower has become an incandescent public personality. Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson may be much admired, but as a man he remains a dim figure to most of the voters. Eisenhower, on the other hand, is a figure warmly human, full of life, friendly and outgoing.

How he succeeds in emanating such dynamic warmth through each day's gruelling round of public appearances, no one can tell. But the emanation is powerful and the voters respond to it.

On these facts, a distinctly unexpected Eisenhower strategy has been built up. In effect, the Eisenhower personality, the Eisenhower reputation, have been relied on to appeal to the independent voters. Meanwhile, by his speeches, as well as by such gestures as his appearances with Senators McCarthy and Jenner, Gen. Eisenhower has sought to heal the Republican schism and bring the party's factions together.

Among the men closest to the General, you hear much, these days, about Eisenhower's special talent for persuading men of many different sorts to work easily with one another.

At this time, as already noted in this space, the task of Republican unification is considered complete. The moment has come, it is promised, "when Eisenhower will talk like Eisenhower." What is more important, however, is the post-election aim that Eisenhower and his staff have set for themselves.

This post-election aim is reconstruction of the Republican party. Once Eisenhower is elected, they believe, almost all Republicans can be induced to follow the lead of their new President.

And they hope that moderate and progressive Republicans, supported by all the authority of the White House, will gain constantly increasing weight and influence.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"EVERYBODY," said the Elevator Man, "who has followed the Russian diplomatic moves of recent years must have decided long ago that the Kremlin boys have two faces. There's the one they present to the west and the one they show around home. So it isn't hard to believe the latest Soviet claim, that their scientists have figured out a way for the human body to grow another stomach, lung or hand. With a choice of faces already mastered, a choice of other organs shouldn't present much difficulty. Of course, the new stomachs, and so on, won't be worn simultaneously. Like the faces, they're only for replacements, when the original has run down or got a little shabby. But with livers and kidneys and other inside jobs interchangeable, I wonder if one of the Politburo boys would ever have a change of heart? Lower main!"

"One drawback," said the Elevator Man, "to the new Russian discovery, is that every scientist except the Russians says the thing's impossible. We aren't like crabs, it seems, who can grow another claw when one is lost. It's nothing new, of course, for Russian spokesmen to be at odds with all the rest of the world. In fact it's a natural state by now. But this question is different from many of the other controversies. There needn't be any long quarrel about who's right and who's wrong. All you need to settle the matter is for the Russians to do what they claim they can do—and let somebody besides Russians see it. Going-up!"

"Until then," said the Elevator Man, "western medical men are all giving their home addresses as Missouri. Their attitude is like that of the friend who was listening to a traveler just back from overseas. 'While I was in Europe,' says the fella, 'I saw a bed 20 feet long and 10 feet wide.' That sounds," says the friend, 'like a lot of bunk.'"

Island Digest

VANCOUVER, Oct. 17.—Joyce Beque of Nanaimo, in hospital here for treatment following an accident near Courtenay Saturday night, was reported today as "improved" and in satisfactory condition.

Miss Beque was injured when the car in which she was riding, reportedly driven by Charles Taylor of Qualicum, overturned near Rosewall Creek. She was first taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Courtenay, but was flown to Vancouver Tuesday.

DUNCAN, Oct. 17.—Jerome Radcliffe, 13, is recovering from a fractured wrist and possible jaw dislocation received when a welded break in the fork of his bicycle broke a second time, throwing the lad to the ground.

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 17.—Tahsis Lumber Co. Ltd. and the International Woodworkers of America are negotiating rates to be paid the company's boom men. The union states that men breaking up Davis rafts at the company's sorting grounds are receiving mill pond pay rates.

SOOKE, Oct. 17.—Sooke land-owners tonight will elect three trustees to administer the newly-formed fire protection area.

Plans include purchase of a new fire truck and other equipment and installation of 10 hydrants and 10 standpipes at intervals along the highway. The improvements will cost an estimated $75 mills in taxation.

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 17.—An expected 600 teachers from all points of Vancouver Island will meet here November 6 for their annual three-day convention. Mayors Ben Wright and Loran K. Jordan will welcome the teachers, and a tour through the MacMillan and Bloedel plywood and pulp mills has been arranged.

NANAIMO, Oct. 17.—Minute inspection of tiny glass samples provided an interesting interlude in the re-trial of William L. Hunchuk, Courtenay, charged with attempted breaking and entering.

T. W. McC. Davis, analyst, compared glass taken from a broken warehouse window with glass particles found in Hunchuk's clothing, and said that within the bounds of scientific experiments the two samples were similar.

Grammer Repudiates Statements to Police

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17 (UP).—G. Edward Grammer took the stand again today as the defense fought to bar as evidence his statements to police when he was arrested for the "almost perfect" murder of his wife.

The gentle-voiced New York businessman was expected to offer further testimony of alleged mistreatment by authorities who charged he slugged his wife with a steel pipe and tried to conceal the killing by staging a fake automobile accident so he could marry a pretty United Nations employee.

State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro said rebuttal of Grammer's testimony may be completed by noon, and that Judge Herman M. Moser may rule on the admissibility of the defendant's statements later today.

Grammer Thursday repudiated a statement he gave police. He said he "would have told them just about anything to get away from them" after being questioned 10 or 12 times in six or seven days by 15 to 20 officers.

"I made up something so I could be released, get something to eat and go home and rest," he said.

What is now the city of Miami, Fla., originally was Fort Dallas, established by the U.S. Army in 1835.

Train Crash Due to Ignoring of Signals

LONDON, Oct. 17 (Reuters).—A Scottish express roaring down the tracks at high speed past a great public concern over the signals—caused last week's suburban Harrow rail disaster which killed 112 persons, the chairman of a public inquiry said Thursday.

A caution signal warns a train to slow down in readiness to stop. Danger signals, nearer a station are an order to stop immediately.

Col. G. R. S. Wilson, chief inspecting officer of the state-run British railways, said he was giving his opinion before evidence had been sifted because of the old engineer of the Scottish express killed when the express rammed the back of a crowded commuters' train.

Missionary Proves Master of Burglar

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (BUP).—An American missionary overpowered a burglar near Tokyo early today and bound his hands and feet with neckties until police arrived.

Rev. Rupert C. Dunton was not hurt when the robber's gun was discharged while the two men grappled in the missionary's home in a village 25 miles west of Tokyo.

Wings Clip Hawks

First N.H.L. Loss; Bruins, Habs Win

The Chicago bubble has burst. The league-leading Hawks, who have been playing out of character since they got a new coach, new owner and a bunch of new players this National Hockey League season, were unceremoniously dumped 7-0 by the Red Wings at Detroit Thursday night.

It was the Hawks first loss in five games and, incidentally, the worst defeat for any N.H.L. club to date.

But it still left them atop the loop with seven points, one ahead of the second-place Wings. The shutout was a rough return to his old home town for Sid Abel, who left Detroit to coach the Hawks, last year's last-place finishers.

In other games Boston Bruins trimmed the winless Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1 in a penalty-studded contest and Montreal Canadiens whacked out a 3-1 victory over the league cellar dwellers, New York Rangers.

AL NOT TO BLAME

Abel watched his former teammates thud into the attack that last year gave Detroit the N.H.L. championship. Sparked by Ted Lindsay, who fired two goals, the Wings started to click in the middle period. Chicago's new goalie, Al Rollins, held them out almost single-handedly in the initial frame, making 23 saves.

Detroit speed then began to blast through the ineffective Chicago defense, rattling home singletons from the sticks of Gordie Howe, Marcel Pronovost, Metro Prystai, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson.

HEAD-RAISING JOUST

Conn Smythe's revamped Leafs, who have managed only a tie in three games, lost out in a high-sticking contest with the Bruins in which 16 penalties were assessed.

Match penalties were handed out to Leo Labine and Tod Sloan in the first period when they became involved in a fist-and-sticks melee. Sloan took a five-stitch cut on the top of the head and Labine a huge bump on his.

The Canadiens' victory came on two goals by Elmer Lach and a successful penalty shot by Mermie (Boon Down) Geoffrion. A crowd of 13,882 saw the penalty score, first of the season. The Canadiens were a man short at the time.

The Rangers lost defenseman Leo Reise, carried from the ice in the third period after falling against a goalpost. He was reported to have suffered a muscular injury about the neck and left shoulder.

LAPRADE'S CHILD ILL

The Rangers also announced that centre Edgar Laprade will not join the club due to business and personal reasons. Laprade told the club his child hasn't been well and that he thinks he shouldn't leave his expanding business in Port Arthur, Ont.

COMEBACK OF YEAR

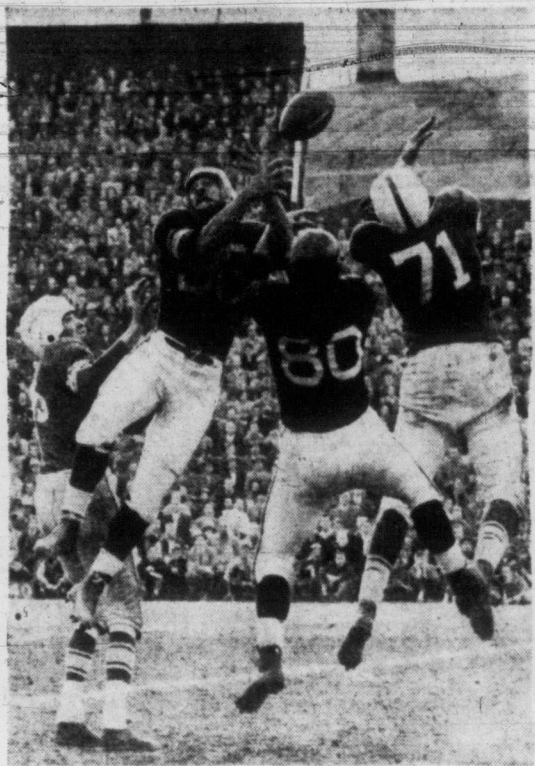

Slaughter Honored

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Enos (Country) Slaughter, veteran outfield star of St. Louis Cardinals, today was selected as the player who made the greatest comeback of the 1952 baseball season.

Slaughter won the Associated Press "comeback-of-the-year" award handily, receiving 26 of the 61 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Thirteen other candidates were nominated but none proved a serious threat. Luke Easter of Cleveland was second with 11 votes.

Slaughter was considered all washed up last April, after hitting .281 in 1951. But he rebounded in 1952 by not only participating in 140 contests but hitting at an even .300 clip. The husky outfielder, who will be 37 next April, batted in 101 runs and swatted 40 extra-base hits including 11 home runs, 12 triples and 17 doubles.

What's in a Name ... the Ball's the Game

The magic of the lens working on two widely separated fronts here catches a striking similarity in different fields of sport. Possession being the keynote, left, the camera shows a Canadian football scene in Winnipeg. End Harry Lampman (71) of Regina Roughriders leaps for a Glen Dobbs' pass in vain while Bombers' Joe Zaleski (80) and Gefry Palmer (93) also jump fruitlessly. Right, it's association football in Victoria. Again three men, Reg Sheppard of Vancouver Firefighters and Victoria's Bernie Clarkson (11) and Wally Milligan leap high in the air for the ball, punched clear by Sheppard. There is also one onlooker in each case.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—The co-managers of Lauro Salas, who lost his lightweight boxing championship to Jimmy Carter Wednesday night, were robbed by a gunman of $467.50 as they left Chicago Stadium.

The robber also took $300 from a companion of Jimmy Fitten and Roger Leighton, Salas' co-managers. Fitten told police the hold-up man returned three cheques representing Salas' share of the fight—$6,428 in gate receipts and about $10,000 for television receipts.

Manager Pat Horgan and coach Bushy-Jackson, two basketball-minded types who refuse to believe people who tell them basketball is dead in this city, will trot their Victoria "No-Names" to Nanaimo for an exhibition joust with Frank Crane's newly-formed Nanaimo club.

The game is a preview to a three-team island senior league. Fred Bishop's Alberni Athletics being the third club and defending island champs.

The Victoria club is yet without an official name and Horgan is awaiting entries in the contest that awards two season tickets to the fan who suggests the best name for his team.

Last year, the Individuals, as they were then known, were defeated by Alberni in a thriller-packed series.

It was a rough season, lack of finances supplying most of Horgan's migraine complaints. The money problems still exist but Jackson has been whipping his squad into shape and Horgan hopes the ability of the team will draw fans at a more encouraging rate than last year when only a trickle came to see the Victuals play some of the best teams in the northwest.

The starting line-up for Saturday's game has five players who have played for the club in the last two years.

At centre it will be peerless Johnny Clark. With the knee injury that forced him out of several games last year completely mended, Clark is looking forward to his best year.

Flanking Clark and providing the club with a six-foot plus forward line are Don Hendry and Howie Tooby, both well steeped in basketball experience.

The defensive duo is speedy Elmer Curtis, a tireless ball hawk, and Bob Boyes, a clever ball handler.

RESERVE CREW
In reserve will be lanky Walt Acemah, who can spell Clark off; Bill Bamford, Harry Jackson and Bill Dobbie, the latter a six-foot, seven-inch youngster who attracted considerable attention with Esquimalt High School and McMorran's last year.

BAKER RECOVERING
Norm Baker, anxious to get back in the game after a year of retirement forced by ineligibility reports he will be ready soon after the New Year.

MINOR HOCKEY
Following is the schedule for practices of teams in the Victoria Minor Hockey Association at Memorial Arena from Saturday to Tuesday inclusive:

Pewees—Saturday, 7 to 8 a.m.
Bantams—Saturday, 8 to 10 a.m.
Juniors—Sunday, 9 to 10:30 a.m.
Midgets—Tuesday, 8 to 7 p.m.

Due to arrive in town today was Cpl. Jack Beliveau, brother of the famed Jean Jacques Beliveau who, with Quebec Aces, has gained renown as one of Canada's greatest and high-priced amateur hockey players.

Jack also played with the Aces and last year was scouted by New Westminster Royals. He will be here on temporary duty but team officials hope that it can be arranged to have him posted here for the entire season.

Members of the old guard returning are goalies Felix Lange and Doug Boettcher.

On defense, Pettis is the only holdover. Returning forwards are Bob Freeborn, Stu Rostek,

Vampires Clash With Strengthened Sailors

Can Ray Mitchell's high-geared Vampires make it three in a row?

That's a question that only time and a newly-strengthened Royal Canadian Navy team can answer Saturday afternoon at 2 when the two teams meet at Heywood Avenue Park in a Victoria Junior Canadian Rugby Football League fixture.

Pre-season underdogs, Vampires confounded the experts by winning their inaugural game against the Navy and leaving an approximate 1,500 cheering fans breathless last Saturday when they made it two-in-a-row by knocking over Royal Roads, the league champions who had never known previous defeat in three full seasons of league play.

Two things go to make Saturday's contest an extra exciting one. First, the Navy team has been granted use of the league's executive of four over-age players. These will include Val Rieger, shifty quarterback who played his football in and around Regina; Ken Walker, 18-year-old 200-pound guard, former Winnipeg Rods; Edward Agnew, former St. Catharines junior, Bob Rhodes, who was carried from the field in the last game with a back injury is now recovered and will take the field with the tars.

Second reason for fan-interest will be the half-time appearance of a trampoline squad under the leadership of Ed Kelter and assistant Bill O'Brien. With a team of five or six nimble jump artists, Ed and Bill will perform their acrobatics to the stirring music of the R.C.N. band.

Hoping for a shot at U.B.C. in Vancouver, Oct. 30, if they make a good showing in the remaining games the Navy men will be shooting the works, Saturday, under the eye of former Saskatchewan Roughriders Les Charlton. Charlton has taken over the R.C.N.'s coaching duties in the absence of Eric Crone.

Tourney Strain Forces Hoppe to Call It Quits

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—The strain of tournament competition has done what no billiard expert could achieve in the last 46 years—make Willie Hoppe quit.

At the age of 65, the silvery-haired cue-master has announced his retirement from the tournament trail which he ruled with a matchless invincibility.

Thus, a sports era closes, locking in Hoppe as the last of the great champions of the golden 1920's that included Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones and Jack Dempsey.

He retires as sport's longest-reigning champion, a holder of a world's billiard title of one kind or another since 1906. With a collection of 51 championships, Hoppe has monopolized his field like no other sports figure in history.

As he overwhelmed opponents of the balkline and angle, the tenseness with which the mild-mannered little man trained and competed vibrated within him.

It only began to show several years ago.

"A new, jumpy feeling swept over me," Hoppe explained. "And when I won the three-cushion title last March in San Francisco I got some spells with my heart. It palpitated. Sure, it scared me. Took a lot out of me."

"In the last year I've felt the strain of being a champion more than ever and I just decided it was time to get out while I was winning."

Lady Luck Smiles On Winless Flyers

Disputed Goal Ties Bombers

Seattle 3, Edmonton 3
Lady Luck nodded to Edmonton Flyers in the third period Thursday night and they salvaged a 3-3 Western Hockey League tie with the touring Seattle Bombers.

Flyers were trailing 3-2 when a hotly-disputed goal brought them even with the Seattle team.

The equalizer was a high shot from the blue line by defenseman Bill Folk which deflected into the Seattle net off Ching Johnson's stick at 14:17.

But Flyers are still winless after four starts. They have one other tie, a 3-3 stalemate with Saskatoon Quakers.

Bombers, who started their prairie tour with a 3-1 loss to Quakers, have won two of five starts.

The other Edmonton goals were scored by Jim Uniak and Gerry Ehman. Seattle scoring was done by George Pargeter, Gerry Foley and Rudy Fillion. Joe Bell picked up two assists.

Flyers took a 1-0 lead in the first but Bombers evened it before the period ended and went ahead 3-2 in the second on two straight goals.

DISPUTED PLAY

Then came the third, and Johnson's disputed goal. Folk shot high from the blue line and Bombers argued with referee Scotty Morrison that Johnson's stick was above his shoulder, thus high-sticking. But Morrison ruled it a goal and they finished off in a dead heat.

Jim Anderson missed a chance to give Flyers the victory when he went in alone on Brennan and shot into his pads.

Brennan, who moved from Saskatoon Quakers to Bombers, blocked 24 shots in the game, compared with 27 by Glen Hall.

Eastern Playoff Race Dominates Grid Scene

The kids who have been warming Western Canada Conference football benches probably will get plenty of action this weekend in end-of-schedule don't-matter games. The situation is highly different in the east.

The Big Four, with four games remaining in its 12-game schedule, is a wide-open battle with three clubs jockeying for the two playoff berths. The inside track belongs to Hamilton Tiger-Cats with a three-point bulge over the second-place Ottawa Rough Riders.

The choice game of the week-end is billed between the Riders and the in-and-out Toronto Argonauts who dropped from a first-place tie to third position following their home-and-home Thanksgiving week-end double loss to the Tiger-Cats.

The Argonauts have a comparatively soft touch at Hamilton against the winless Montreal Alouettes and a victory here would just about gain them a berth in the post-season playoffs.

Everything is cut and dried in the west. Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who have clinched first place and a bye into the best-of-three finals, meet the Stampeders at Calgary and Edmonton Eskimos finish the regular season at Regina against the last-place Saskatchewan Rough Riders.

Game time is 2:30.

WANTA BE A BIG LEAGUE PLAYER? — TRY CATCHING

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 17 (AP)—Want to be a big league baseball player, feller? Then go in for catching.

That's the advice of Bill Summers, American League umpire.

Summers told a group of "little leaguers" at a banquet that "catching today is one department woefully weak in the big leagues and there is little prospect of any outstanding catcher coming up."

"Don't be like many youngsters who try catching and then quit when they receive the slightest injury. Stick with it and you'll make the grade."

MILLIGAN OUT SATURDAY

United Mixes Forward Line

With their ace temporarily out of action, Victoria United will present a shuffled deck Saturday as they attempt to fill an inside straight in a Coast Soccer League match at Athletic Park.

The absence of centre forward Wally Milligan has made it necessary to move right wing Cedric Robb to the pivot spot for the important match with North Shore.

United is currently working on a three-game winning streak, the result of victories over Vancouver Firefighters, Vancouver City and New Westminster Royals.

CLARKSON TO SWITCH
Left-winger Bernie Clarkson will move into the position vacated by Robb and rookie Alex Stewart will handle Clarkson's regular spot.

The remainder of the line-up will be unchanged with Bill McAllister in goal and Bill Hope and Joe Robbins starting at the fullback posts.

John Pickburn and Denny McGee will flank Harry Caruthers on the half line while Ray Wilkinson and Jackie Robbins will be the inside forwards.

Milligan is listed as a spare together with Billy Jobson, Cliff Robbins, Timmy Walker and newcomer Erwin Michalski.

EX-INTERNATIONAL
Michalski, a 30-year-old German, has been in Canada only a few months but is reported to be a great prospect for the club.

He has played international soccer in England, Denmark and Sweden and plays inside left or left half.

Game time is 2:30.

BELIVEAU MAY PLAY HOCKEY HERE

Not Jean ... His Brother

Sailor beware. Batten down the storm hatches and break out the heavy armor.

Words to that effect are the advice of spokesmen for the Army entry in the Commercial Hockey League.

Army publicity man and defenseman Curley Pettis, one of the few holdovers from last year's team, reported this week that Army was ready to go and was nursing a burning urge to smite the defending champion tars Monday.

Pettis revealed the team would not be signing any players until this week-end but that their workouts had produced some excellent candidates.

Due to arrive in town today was Cpl. Jack Beliveau, brother of the famed Jean Jacques Beliveau who, with Quebec Aces, has gained renown as one of Canada's greatest and high-priced amateur hockey players.

Jack also played with the Aces and last year was scouted by New Westminster Royals. He will be here on temporary duty but team officials hope that it can be arranged to have him posted here for the entire season.

Members of the old guard returning are goalies Felix Lange and Doug Boettcher.

On defense, Pettis is the only holdover. Returning forwards are Bob Freeborn, Stu Rostek, Ron Gill and Gunner McNeil. High-scoring forwards Rod Hallam and Stu Vary will not be with the team this year.

The remainder of the squad, according to Pettis, has been drawn from the reserve army.

A trio of forwards picked up from the inactive Civil Service crew are Al Davyduk, Ab Quinn and Roy Wenas.

Phil Andrejew, a veteran of years of local hockey, has come out of retirement again and will be sporting Army colors. Bob Burrows, with Seven-Ups last year, will also be in soldier garb.

The Army-Navy game starts at 9 and will be preceded by the Merchants-Vics encounter that officially opens the season.

On the OUTDOOR FRONT

By ROY THORSEN

Hunting gets into the expensive bracket for those hunters who try to beat the Game Act regulations and get nabbed by alert game wardens.

Three hunters picked up last week-end for infractions were considerably out of pocket after they'd faced the magistrate (A. L. Thomas) in provincial (R.C.M.P.) court.

His repeated warnings in seasons gone by of harsher penalties to come apparently had fallen on deaf ears—so now the judge is popping an extra load in the breach and, figuratively speaking, giving the wrong-doers both barrels.

One chap who failed to clear his gun before putting it in the car for the homeward trip—a dangerous oversight—got nicked for $25 and $3 costs.

Another nimrod failed to buy a $4 firearms license before taking to the game trails. He paid $25 and $3 costs—and he still has to get a license before again hitting the trails. An Indian was caught in the act of jugging out an antler-less deer. He was fined $40.

Breaking the law just doesn't pay off, except for the court.

Victoria's Harry A. Johnston and Wallace H. McMillan, just back from a two-week trip to Alberta bird shooting lands, put the accent on "holidays" rather than just plain hunting.

They got all the game birds they wanted or could handle, in spite of the fact the hot, dry weather was against good hunting. They hunted out of Lethbridge, Bow City and Tilly and came home with a mixed bag of ducks, Hungarian partridge and pheasants.

"When the World Series was on, Wallace and I retired in shirt sleeves to the prairie. I had the Coleman stove to provide us with hot food and Wallace brought along his portable radio—so we enjoyed the Yankee-Brooklyn series under the most ideal conditions," said Harry, the sporting goods store operator.

En route to various hunting grounds, they met Victoria's Johnny Wenger, bent on duck and pheasant offerings.

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association members are still seething at "unproved" charges that hunters are responsible for forest blazes since the hunting season began.

Officials say that if forest officials can definitely pin the hunter as responsible, the party concerned should really "get the works," but they don't like being "joed" just because it happens in the legal shooting seasons.

Ray Ritchie, club prexy, said the association has asked, by letter, for an audience with Attorney-General George Bonner on the matter. They would like forestry and game department officials present to thrash out the entire matter.

Pheasant hunters will be out an hour before sunrise Saturday morning gunning for first pheasant bags in Saanich and Metochin areas. General duck shooting season also opens Saturday.

The pheasant season will last four weeks, closing Nov. 9. General consensus of those who have made pre-season pheasant surveys is that there is "only a mediocre supply" available.

"If we are going to perpetuate hunting we have to knock down the season to a couple of weeks," opines veteran sportsman Joe Gibault.

Incidentally, willow grouse are legal targets now. Roger Monteith says during the dry weather they stick to the swamps and we'll have to get some rain before they come out in the open.

Rain is needed to improve the hunting picture generally.

Probably the most pleased little angler in these parts is 10-year-old Ronald Roberts, 2357 Pacific, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Boyd Roberts. Ron reeled in a 16½-pound coho last week-end off French Creek in the Qualicum area.

"It was a great fight. The fish circled the boat six times before pop netted it. I've caught grise before, but never had a thrill like this," said the boy. Dr. Roberts caught a couple of fish, one a steelhead. Dave Gray told us about Ron's big day.

Qualicum-Parkville through to Campbell River are great coho fishing waters these days, Stan Williams says. There are lots of coho in Cowichan Bay.

Victoria's Charlie Warner and wife brought home 150 pounds of coho off Oyster River, going as high as 18½ pounds each. Two friends boated 200 pounds of coho, all using bucktail fly and spinner.

Monteith says Oyster River, from the bridge to the saltchuck, is seething with sea trout "and there is no trouble getting a creelful on the fly or small spinners."

Monteith had four Chinese boys in the other day who had taken their limit of trout from Shawanigan Lake—48—of average size. They had been trolling. Fishing there is good when the wind is not from the north. Fly fishing is fair on decent days.

In front of Monteith's store Wednesday morning were a dozen trout. Cowichan River guide Joe Hancock had taken them out of the headwaters with a teal and yellow-wet fly Tuesday evening. Biggest went two and one-half pounds.

Clarke and Mrs. Atchison, of Victoria Gun Club, got their limits of blue grouse "at a private spot" last week-end. They now are shooting pheasant at Vernon.

Alex Macdonald (of boxla), has been catching salmon off Clover Point recently. Last week he took five springs and one coho, fishing after work each evening. He was using a special plug given him by Earl Pollock.

Saanich Inlet fishermen are scarce, but those going out are catching salmon, mostly springs. Limit catches were H. J. Smith and out another day with M. Smith; W. Bannan and partner, and Bannan alone; Mr. and Mrs. E. Ensley; Norris Nolan and W. C. Smith, and the same W. C. Smith with W. Reekie and Fred Curl. Hugh Cowan took a 13½-pound spring last Saturday.

BYRNE 'BARGAIN' IN BASEBALL PLAYER SWAP

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Chicago White Sox today traded infielder Willie Miranda and outfielder Hank Edwards to St. Louis Browns for pitcher Tommy Byrne and infielder Joe Demaestri.

The Sox tabbed Byrne, a 7-14 performer for the Browns last season, as the "bargain" of the straight swap.

EDMONTON'S LOSS IS VICTORIA'S GAIN

Doug and His Buddy

By BILL WALKER

One of the most disappointed members of the Cougars last year was centre Doug Anderson.

It wasn't because the team lost in the final playoff to Saskatoon that Doug was so particularly concerned, although that ledened the blow, but rather because Doug felt he hadn't had, what is called in the trade, "a good year."

Despite the fact that many fans don't agree with Doug, one of the hardest working and also most appreciated members of last year's club, he still held that feeling.

As a matter of interest, it was still strong in his mind as late as the opening of the present campaign.

Speaking of the pre-season training grind with Montreal, with which, incidentally, he was displeased, Doug said:

"I didn't even think I would get called to Montreal camp, considering the season I had last year."

But still in all, he figures he's due for a better season this year, better than the 14 goals and 33 assists he accumulated in 67 games in 1951-52.

And one reason is that he's reunited with his old running mate, Colin Kilburn.

This duo could be likened to a fabled gold-dust combine, Anderson and Kilburn.

The pair are in partnership in a successful billiard parlor in Edmonton, played on the Alberta championship softball team this year, generally stick together like paper to the wall and, in Edmonton, are considered as two of that city's favorite native sons.

So much so, that when a recent female visitor from Edmonton heard that Kilburn was joining Anderson here, she remarked: "They won't like that up in Edmonton; those are OUR boys."

Of the move, Doug said:

"I don't know how Colin feels about it, but I'm sure glad we're back together again."

"Again" meaning the great year they had together for the Flyers in the Western Canada Amateur Hockey League in the 1949-50 season, before the prairie clubs joined the now outmoded Pacific Coast League.

That was the season Kilburn was third to Sid Finney, now with Calgary Stampede, and Dunc Grant, in the league scoring race with 74 points on 32 goals and 42 assists. Anderson had 16 goals and 30 assists for 46 points in 51 games.

They were linemates then as they are now, thus Anderson's optimistic outlook. Last year Kilburn was with Edmonton, netting 68 points on 31 goals and 37 assists.

Then, too, there's the harsh fact that both are working under the second year of a two-year contract with Montreal Canadiens.

Performance and results will speak when next year's terms are being discussed.

And with the Cougars as their newly acquired hockey home, both trust that their puck careers will coincide with their joint success in other endeavours.

And tonight the pair resume their quest for betterment of Doug's "disappointing" season. Game time is 8:30. The opposition, New Westminster Royals.

Sedgman Not Turning Pro, Not Yet, Anyway

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—It has come to our ears from several sources lately that Jack Kramer, the tennis player-promoter from California, already has leased Madison Square Garden for a night in February to open a professional tour against Frank Sedgman of Australia, now the world's greatest amateur player, so-called.

Upon the word of Ned Irish, executive vice president in charge of running the famous showplace, the report simply is not true.

"Sure, there has been an exchange of letters between us," Irish conceded, "but that's all it has amounted to. Jack has asked me what dates are open in February and I have told him. It's gone no further than that, and I'm not sure that it will."

He said a similar situation occurred last year, when it was hoped Sedgman would turn pro after the Davis Cup matches.

But, we interposed respectfully, would it not be possible for Kramer to take the big gamble and go ahead and lease the Garden for a night in February? If Sedgman should fail to show up again, the pro champ could always play somebody else.

"No," Irish said, coldly, "it would have to be Sedgman. We wouldn't want Kramer to play this other fellow from out on the coast—what's his name, Pancho Gonzales? We wouldn't want that."

From which it may be judged that the Garden is pretty particular about its tenants. Kramer will have to put it down in black and white that Sedgman is in the bag before his money is any good with Irish.

Last time we saw Jack he said he still was trying, but that the Aussie ace had not told him yes or no. All we say is that Kramer hasn't hired himself a hail, yet.

Bluebirds Maintain Slim Lead

Bluebird Cubs clung to their slim two-point lead in the Victoria Table Tennis Association's senior A division Thursday night by virtue of a 17-13 conquest of MacDonald's.

Robinson's Grocery and Butler's Aces remained two points behind in a two-way tie, the grocers beating Berg's Music Shop 27-5 and Butler's dropping Henry's 21-11.

The association reports there are still berths open for more players in all leagues. Players interested are asked to contact fierce and flaming has not waned Laurie Greenwood at G 9782.

Scores follow.

Bluebird Cubs—Keith Olson 8, Gordon Eworthy 4, Don Eworthy 4, MacDonald's Limited—Ed Ngai 6, Bob Mason 4, Bob Canova 3, Butler's Aces—Art Ngai 8, Elmer Bryn-Johnson 7, Will Jay 2, E. Mayor Raps Council on Goldstream Park Plan

Mayor Claude Harrison gave council a verbal wrist-slapping at Thursday's meeting when some aldermen suggested Goldstream Park again be offered to the B.C. government.

"We were mighty lucky to get that park back," he warned, "don't give it away."

He wanted council to wait until the new Social Credit government calls a session of the Legislature before taking action.

"Find out what their policy is on provincial parks... ask them for assurances."

It was on the question of government assurance to develop Goldstream foreshore into a first-class beach that the deal to turn the 700-acre over to the government for a provincial park, fell through. The last government would give no assurances.

The 1951 council, in its dying hours, moved to turn the area over to the government. Mayor Harrison requested the matter be delayed until he took office January 1. It was.

The matter was left in his hands. A deadlock resulted over "assurances" about the beach. The government and Greater Victoria Water Board both dropped claims and the park became the sole property of the city again.

"Ten months have gone by," said Ald. Arthur Dowell. "Council should know what's happened."

Ald. Frank Mulliner raised the question by saying he and the parks department had received reports Goldstream buildings were being wrecked.

Ald. Percy Scurrah argued the city could not maintain the park. "We should press for acceptance of the original agreement which was held up last December," he said.

Said the mayor: "The former government wanted to cut $400,000 in timber in return for trails Boy Scouts could build."

"Don't you want extra lands?" he asked. "We've already got back more than you had before and we'll get more."

Interjected Ald. Dowell: "What'll we do with it when we get it?"

"You wouldn't have a stick to complain of if A. E. Todd and I had not got that park for the city," snapped back the mayor. "It was done without consent of this or any other council. That's why you have it today. Now you want to throw it away."

Said Ald. Scurrah: "There may be $400,000 worth of timber but it can't be cut under provincial law so it can never be turned into cash."

Mayor Harrison said the present delays were caused by restrictions included in Greater Victoria water board's "quit claim" deed of the property to the city. Further negotiations were necessary, he said.

Ald. Robert Macmillan could not understand why council was so interested in Goldstream. "Nobody said anything for 10 months... suddenly everybody is worried about it."

Council finally approved giving the mayor authority to appoint a committee of three to study the matter.

Movies will be displayed next Wednesday and plans will be finalized for the official opening of the club at a Halloween party October 23.

The Young Adults Club draws its members from the 18 to 40 age group.

"Children's Portraiture" will be the subject of an 8 p.m. address to the "Y" Camera Club tonight, when Robert Fort speaks to the season's first meeting.

The Golden Nugget Club will hold an outing on Sunday at 9:30 a.m. leaving from the "Y."

BANK MANAGER ADMITS THEFT TO 'KEEP UP'

DES MOINES, Iowa (BUP). — A 52-year-old bank manager tearfully admitted today embezzling $73,000 in the past 17 years to maintain the social position expected of a banker.

"People expect a banker to live well," F.B.I. agents quoted Ura Francis Beauchamp, manager of the Grimes branch of the Des Moines Bank and Trust Company.

F.B.I. agent J. L. Dalton said Beauchamp admitted taking money since he started working at the bank in 1935.

The banker built a reputation as a solid citizen in the Iowa town and he said that made it even more difficult for him to give himself up and confess to the F.B.I.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1952

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Governor-General Vincent Massey made a great many wise, considered, and memorable pronouncements during his official visit to Victoria.

But I think he was topped by Walter Giddens, foreman of the torpedo shop at H.M.C. Dockyard.

To Mr. Giddens, the Governor-General remarked: "At $25,000 a torpedo, that makes a miss pretty expensive."

And the foreman replied: "We think of the hits, not the misses."

Bully for you, Mr. Giddens. Keep your mind on your work, and never mind either the misses or the missus.

The weekly newspaper people are in town, and the only thing weak about them is the name.

The publishers of the weekly newspapers in British Columbia are all small businessmen, and I doubt if they own a single yacht between them.

But individually and collectively, they and their 166,000 paid subscribers pack a wallop.

This isn't just MY opinion. It also seems to be the opinion of such organizations as the B.C. Telephone Co., the B.C. Electric Co., the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, the Canadian National Railway, the Canadian Pacific Railway, and sundry others.

These corporations have all taken great pains to register delegates (non-voting, non-speaking, of course) to the convention.

You've heard about the voice of the people?

Well, a great many corporations have sent a great many people to LISTEN to the voice, as embodied in the man with the flat-bed press and the readership of perhaps one or two thousand people.

The people sometimes speak in a small voice. But, by golly, in THIS country, someone hears them—or else.

In case you've decided to become the publisher of a weekly newspaper, and enjoy his independence and freedom, hear the story of Powell River's Al Alsard.

Al had a mite of trouble getting out a recent issue of the Powell River News. Appears everybody came down with something at the same time, except for a couple of staff members who were on holiday, which left Al to get out the paper.

Well, he produced it okay, except that he reports:

"I showed my union card to the boss—that's me—and it said I was only supposed to work 37½ hours, but I laughed at me and said 'where ya kidding?' as I met myself coming home at 8 a.m."

I understand that Hon. Douglas Abbott is coming to Victoria to speak on General Business Conditions, and that one and all will be welcome to attend.

At one dollar and fifty-five cents per head. Including amusement tax?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A thief at Memorial Arena Thursday night found the money pickings small—10 cents—but he did get a good wallet out of it. Police report that the wallet, owned by Jack Willoughby, 2136 Highview, was stolen from his clothes while he was playing hockey between 5 and 7 p.m.

Purchase of fire-fighting equipment totaling $26,845 and including a new fire truck chassis costing $15,385, was approved by City Council at its meeting Thursday.

Case of Mae O'Brien, 38, a Victoria resident for about a year, charged with unlawful possession of a narcotic—heroin—was remanded to Oct. 24 in city police court today by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Counsel for accused is William A. Buchanan and J. Alan Baker is counsel for the Crown. No plea has been entered.

Canadian Army Provost officials of this area reported to city police Thursday that a $100 multi-metre radio in a polished oak case was stolen this week from Macaulay Point army quarters.

Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, will address members of the Men's Guild of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, at their annual parish supper to be held in Yale Hall at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 23.

Chief of Police John Blackstock and hunting companion Bill Bridgewood returned from a Cariboo hunting trip to the Cariboo Thursday with more game than their deep-freeze lockers will hold. Both bagged 700-800-pound moose, geese, ducks and pheasants.

Sportsmen to Fish For Solarium Patients' Dinner

A big salmon "feed" is in store for the crippled kiddies of the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The "special event" is being staged by the Cowichan Bay Coho Club, and all sportsmen out in the bay with rod and reel Sunday morning should take their salmon to the Government Wharf by noon.

The program included dancing, floor show, novelty numbers and refreshments.

Young Musician's Colleagues Carry Casket to Grave

A popular Victoria youth, well-known to the young people of the city for his musical activities died here Wednesday.

He was 19-year-old Gordon Charles Moore, 3120 Richmond.

A former student of Oakland Public and Victoria High Schools, he was a drummer for the Victoria School Band for some time. He later entertained with the Garden City Five orchestra, and was a member of the Victoria Jazz Club. He was also a member of the Musicians Union.

Funeral service will be held at the Sands Mortuary Ltd., Saturday, at 3:30 p.m. Rev. M. A. J. Waters will officiate, assisted by Rev. F. W. Anderson. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park, with the youth's fellow musicians serving as pall bearers.

Gordon Charles is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. J. Moore of 3120 Richmond Avenue; his grandmother, Mrs. K. Bryant of Victoria; and an aunt, Mrs. G. Fountain of Cordova Bay.

James Bay United to Celebrate 60th Year

James Bay United Church will observe its 60th birthday on Sunday.

There will be guest preachers at the regular services and on Monday a celebration party will be held.

The Diamond Jubilee evening service will be conducted by guest preacher Rev. Douglas Carr, B.A., B.D., a former pastor, Rev. G. R. B. Kinney, also a former minister, will address the morning Sunday school classes. The Monday evening social will hear provincial librarian Willard E. Ireland, B.A., recall the early history of Victoria church. Messages will be read from former pastors, and a musical program is planned.

The church, which stands at the corner of Menzies and Michigan Streets, was built in 1892. Rev. Samuel Wilkinson was the first minister. Many Victoria pioneer names are associated with the growth of the church since that time.

200,000 Feet of Timber, House Claimed By Flames

At least one home, and from 150,000 to 200,000 feet of felled and bucked timber have been destroyed this week by fires that have burned through the Highlands District.

The remote Munn Road home of Frederick Bolton was totally destroyed late Monday night, with an estimated loss of $3,000, it was learned today. The house had been raised, and forms had been built ready for the pouring of cement for a new foundation.

Observers were at the unoccupied Bolton home Monday at 9:30 p.m., when flames were raging within 200 yards of the house.

On their way out they met Mr. Bolton and a companion on the road. They had 30 gallons of water in their car with which to fight the fire—only fire protection they could find.

By the time they reached the house it was too late to take any action. The fire was blamed on a slash burn that ran out of control in the high wind that started all fires in the district burning furiously Monday night.

Loggers in the district, who have completed checks of their properties, report up to 200,000 feet of timber lost on four operations.

Langford firemen reported the fires all quiet today, and believe only a rising wind can send them out of control again.

Meningitis Suspected

A suspected case of meningitis—that of a young man—was reported in the Greater Victoria area by city medical health authorities today.

Saanich medical health officials report a new polio suspect has been diagnosed as "definite." She is a 38-year-old Saanich woman.

James Bay United to Celebrate 60th Year

James Bay United Church will observe its 60th birthday on Sunday.

There will be guest preachers at the regular services and on Monday a celebration party will be held.

The Diamond Jubilee evening service will be conducted by guest preacher Rev. Douglas Carr, B.A., B.D., a former pastor, Rev. G. R. B. Kinney, also a former minister, will address the morning Sunday school classes. The Monday evening social will hear provincial librarian Willard E. Ireland, B.A., recall the early history of Victoria church. Messages will be read from former pastors, and a musical program is planned.

The church, which stands at the corner of Menzies and Michigan Streets, was built in 1892. Rev. Samuel Wilkinson was the first minister. Many Victoria pioneer names are associated with the growth of the church since that time.

DO YOU CARRY A JEMMY? DON'T! IT MIGHT GET YOU INTO JAIL

If you are wandering about the streets after dark with an instrument that could be used for house-breaking, that is an offense under the Criminal Code of Canada.

Such a charge, rarely laid here, was lodged against William J. L. Todd, 315 Beckley Street, in city police court today.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall allowed Prosecutor Alan Bigelow to withdraw an earlier charge of vagrancy in favor of another charge against accused alleging he was found "illegally in possession of an instrument of house-breaking by night." The offense is alleged to have taken place on the night of Oct. 15.

Todd was released earlier on posting $50 bail on the vagrancy charge. Magistrate Hall today set $1,000 bail, in one or two streets, on the new charge. Accused's counsel is James J. Proudfoot.

Todd was remanded to Oct. 21 without plea.

Shipping Traffic Jam Threat at Ogden Point

Shipment of Corn Now Loading for Japan First From Elevator Since Before War

Ogden Point today stands on the verge of a "traffic jam" of shipping, involving the flags of six nations—and highlighted by the first shipment of grain out of the elevator there since well before the Second World War.

Young artists Shine With Musical Stars

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

That splendid project, "Musical Stars of B.C.," which Jack Wiswell is sponsoring at the Victoria Ballroom, was seriously jeopardized Thursday night by an unfortunate clash of dates.

In all fairness, it must be pointed out that the recital by Pamela Hartman and Marion Jarvis had been scheduled for this Thursday, several weeks beforehand. But as a result of counter attractions, less than a hundred persons were on hand, to hear two splendid young musicians.

The best critical opinion of those who did attend, estimated both artists highly. Of Miss Hartman, who has recently taken up her home and musical profession in Victoria, it was said that she has an extremely able technique which was used to the finest artistic effect.

Her playing was commended as effortless, her manner at the keyboard, quiet and easy. Her Chopin group particularly won praise for its natural beauty, sensitivity and brilliance.

Miss Jarvis, who had come from Vancouver, and was accompanied by Phyllis Dilworth, has a charming voice of good range, and chose a well contrasted program. Her listeners found her English diction excellent and her platform manner delightful.

Miss Dilworth, in accompanying the leader group, showed her own deep musicianship and understanding, was the considered opinion.

As the first of 91,000 bushels of corn poured into No. 1 hold of Ss. Melwa Maru, lumber activity at the point stepped up to a peak well ahead of anything in recent years.

The Victoria waterfront has long hoped for renewed activity at the elevator, to supplement our usual lumber and general cargo movements, and today it seemed as though the first outburst of grain shipping heralded a new, vigorous, and prosperous life for this city as a deep seat port.

LOADING TODAY Loading at Ogden Point today were:

Ss. Winkleigh, of W. J. Tatem Ltd., London, lifting 1,200,000 feet of lumber and ties for United Kingdom.

Ss. Sierra, Matson Line freighter out of San Francisco, taking more than 400,000 feet for Suva, Fiji and Australia.

Ss. Melwa Maru, of Japanese registry, filling her holds with over 2,000 metric tons of corn which has been elevator storage for three years, bound for her home country.

Ss. Angostini Bertani, Italian freighter, lifting 675,000 feet of Atlantic seaboard ports in the United States.

Two more ships are due this evening or early Saturday morning: Ss. Margo, Greek of Panamanian registry, to lift 520,000 feet U.S. ports on the Atlantic, and Ss. Seafarer, to take an unspecified amount of lumber for Trinidad.

On Sunday, the Pacific-Australasian liner Aorangi will dock. She will make two more round trips after this one, before being "retired" in her honorable old age, leaving the Pacific with a passenger liner flying the Empire flag.

Aged Arsonist Goes To Prison for Year

First World War Veteran Convicted Here After Fires Set in Blanshard St. Rooms

Sixty-eight-year-old John William Ellington was sentenced to serve one year in Oakalla when found guilty of attempted arson by Judge L. A. Hanna in Victoria County Court Thursday afternoon.

The elderly First World War veteran was convicted of having set a number of fires in his room at 2106 Blanshard Street last September 25.

Firemen, who were called to extinguish the fires, said there were seven.

They said a grass-like substance had been used to get them started.

Ellington, when brought before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court October 2, complained bitterly that police who arrested him had refused to give him "a lie detector test."

Allowing Evidence Argued in Case Of Tool Thefts

Trial of John Douglas Lemarchand, 3919 Winton Street, charged with stealing, receiving and retaining tools worth more than $25, property of Roy William Baker, 3470 Bowker, dragged on in Assize Court today.

For the second day, jury members were required to stay out of the courtroom while a trial-within-a-trial was conducted. Evidence of city detectives was presented.

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane is to decide on admissibility of the officers' testimony before it is presented to the jury.

The judge at one point in the morning's proceedings was irritated by the doggedness of defense counsel George Gregory's questioning of police officers. The judge thought there was no need for the defense to question so intensely since it was merely a trial-within-a-trial, and since witnesses will all have to be called again, when the jury comes back.

The judge did not hinder the cross-examination, however. He gave instructions: "Go ahead, but I don't like it."

MORALS CHARGE BRINGS PRISON

William George Kelly, 1040 Sutlej Street, was sentenced to serve one year in Oakalla when brought before Judge L. A. Hanna for speedy trial in Victoria County Court Thursday.

Kelly was charged by Saanich police with a morals offense. Lloyd McKenzie prosecuted the case. James Proudfoot was defense counsel.

Subsidy Seen as Hope To Salvage Park Logs

The provincial government may consider granting subsidies as a last-ditch effort to attract loggers to take timber out of the area of Tweedsmuir Park to be flooded by the huge Alcan development.

According to Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers, the government at present has no authority to grant subsidies, but special legislation might be introduced at the spring session to allow such action.

College Men Shown Sound Investment

A college degree is good business for the student, the state and management. And it does not produce "subversive ideas."

This is the opinion of Prof. E. D. McPhee, department of commerce, University of British Columbia, who marshalled facts and figures before a luncheon meeting of B.C. weekly newspaper publishers in Empress Hotel today.

His theme: A college education is a partnership in which the state, by providing $1,100, persuades a man or woman to invest about $5,000 in a "joint enterprise."

He told delegates to the 34th annual convention of the B.C. Division, Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association: "That is good business, by any standard I know."

Business management gets its return from the investment made by the state, Prof. McPhee contended. "College graduates get the key jobs," he said. "Society, in its business aspects, thus gets part of its dividend in the form of men who can earlier take on the responsibilities of modern industry."

The convention delegates were luncheon guests of the B.C. Electric, and this morning were entertained at a "wake-up" breakfast by the B.C. Telephone Company.

This morning's business session covered participation in the Audit Bureau of Circulation, and a round-table of "back-shop" problems of small newspapers.

At the annual banquet this evening, the guest speaker will be Stuart Keate, publisher of the Times.

Public Invited to Hear D. C. Abbott

Persons who wish to hear Canada's Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott, who speaks at the Club Sirocco following a luncheon under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce Oct. 24, will welcome a free of charge after lunch.

The chamber members will hear the minister survey general business conditions, secretary-manager George I. Warren says. Luncheon tickets are available at $1.55 to the general public, as well as to chamber members.

MAYOR WESTWOOD

E. C. Westwood, Nanaimo Mayor, Joins Socreds

No Promises or Commitments

Mayor Earle C. Westwood of Nanaimo, has joined the Social Credit ranks "to try and get something done for Nanaimo."

"I joined without any promises or commitments," he told The Times today. "I've never been connected with a political party before, and have always tried to keep politics out of civic government."

"I lean towards them because I'm always 'pitching' for Nanaimo, and under the old-line parties nothing was ever done for this city," he said. "The highways and public buildings are a disgrace."

"It seems the government has always been prejudiced against Nanaimo," he said. "I've worn a groove in the highway to Victoria, and still have nothing but plan and promises."

E. J. Brewster, defeated Social Credit candidate for Nanaimo, The Islands and president of the Social Credit constituency association, referred to Mayor Westwood as a "hand-picked candidate in a movement to kick me out."

He charged that the mayor was actually behind the movement to remove him from office, adding weight to reports that the Social Credit group in Nanaimo is a "house divided."

Mayor Westwood, however, could add nothing to the reports that Mr. Brewster is the object of attack of some members of the rank and file who would like to see the mayor as a candidate for provincial office.

"I've been approached by several parties to run for office, but have never given the matter much thought," he said.

Noted Victoria Athlete, H. A. 'Giddy' Goward, Dies

H. A. Goward, known to thousands of Victoria theatre-goers over the past half century, and other thousands who have watched Victoria athletes in that same period, died suddenly here today.

Popularly known as "Giddy" to his intimates, Mr. Goward was for years one of Victoria's stars at rugby football, soccer, lacrosse, baseball and, latterly, cricket. For 50 uninterrupted seasons he played with Victoria cricket teams, engaging in the inter-provincial matches and in the California tour in years past.

But Mr. Goward was possibly best known as an associate of Cliff Denham, from the days of the Old Victoria Theatre on Douglas Street and the Royal, formerly Royal Victoria, which Mr. Denham still manages.

"Many, many times," recalled Mr. Denham today, "Giddy was mistaken for me and I for him. I suppose we looked alike. But we were so long associated in the theatre business, I am very deeply shocked at his death."

Mr. Goward was one of the lightest and fastest backs who ever wore cleats on Victoria football fields.

He was a contemporary of the late Bernie Schwengers, the fabulous Gillespie brothers, Pete Ogden, Joe Shivers and other great names in early Victoria rugby.

He leaves, besides his widow at their Transit Road home, two daughters, Mrs. Gordon Paterson and Margaret Lillian, and one son, Austin. There are three grandchildren, Richard, Jeannette and David Paterson.

There is a sister, Mrs. Edwin Cole, surviving him in Cardiff, Wales.

Mr. Goward was born in Wales, of English parents, and came to Victoria as a child well before the turn of the century.

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goward, well known here to old-time residents.

Prayers will be offered at Our Lady of Lourdes Church at 8 tonight. The funeral will be held from the church at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Miniature Vacuum Cleaner
Cleanses Scalp and Hair

By PENNY SAVER

Always being on the look-out for new products and ideas, you can imagine how pleased I was when I discovered a miniature vacuum cleaner for massaging the scalp and cleansing the hair.

It really is an amazing little piece of equipment. No ordinary vacuum cleaner, it is a very tiny machine about the size of a military brush, to be used for the purpose of cleansing the hair.

It really does suck up the dirt, too, or dandruff, or whatever happens to be in its path.

The vacuum is fitted with a rubber brush which has 24 little rubber teeth and this vibrates and massages gently as it cleanses. There is a disposable filter which is removed after use and you may see exactly what you succeed in luring from your scalp.

An ideal stimulator for anyone trying to hang onto his hair. The manufacturers claim it stirs up lazy glands, saves too frequent shampooing and keeps the top-notch in really good health.

It is excellent, too, for anyone who is bedridden and not able to wash his hair as often as he would like.

This little machine will cleanse hair to perfection in about 10 to 15 minutes and thus is a boon to anyone looking for a quick and efficient dry shampoo.

You will find that the hair vacuum is shaped to fit the palm of your hand and is ready to use.

While you will probably be impressed with the first results the manufacturers suggest that you bear in mind that, as with an electric shaver, a certain period of scalp conditioning is necessary for complete effectiveness.

They also tell you that the amount of dandruff and scalp debris on the filter is your guide to most effective use. A small accumulation indicates you will not need to use the vacuum too frequently. If, however, you note a considerable amount of dandruff on the filter, use it every other day for a few weeks.

You'll see for yourself how it helps improve your scalp condition. The vacuum is good for every member of the family... ideal for the sick room.

No oils, tonics, formulas are needed. Just rub the vacuum in gently circular motion.

The vacuum was first introduced in the States and just recently was put on the market in Canada. I know you'll be impressed with it.

Reason Romantic Problem
With Head, Not Emotions

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

The problem of divorce and remarriage is one about which people have strong opinions on moral, religious, or personal grounds. What a girl should do when she falls in love with a divorced man is the question asked by this young woman:

(Q) "I am 22 years old. The man I love is the same age. When I first met him he had been going with a girl who was three months pregnant. He married her, then went overseas. The baby was born while he was abroad but died shortly after birth. When he came back he got a divorce. He told me he was not the baby's father. We love each other very much and hope to get married. Do you think I should keep on dating him or forget all about him?"

(A) Yours is a difficult problem. You can solve it only by using your head instead of your emotions. Regardless of your attitudes toward divorce and remarriage, there are several relevant points that should not be overlooked.

In the first place, why did the young man marry a pregnant girl if he was not the father of her child? I question whether he's telling you the whole truth.

Granting, however, that his story is true, why did he marry her, knowing that she was carrying another man's child? If he loved her enough to marry her, then why did he divorce her when he returned from overseas? Surely, after her unhappy experience in losing the baby, he should have stayed with her and helped her rebuild her life.

I would most certainly stop seeing him. He has made a mistake in life, as many other people do, but I question whether he has strength to meet his mistakes honestly or courage to see them through.

Chew Your Gum at Home
If You Would Be Glamorous

Q. "I recently became aware of the fact that I am a habitual gum-chewer. I wonder what its advantages are so far as curbing appetite, in reducing or in health. Would you tell me?"

A. There have been many theories about this. For instance, it has been suggested as a good facial exercise. This is logical, especially if you do it with fancy pouts and pulls. If you chew enough gum to get enough sugar in the digestive tract to curb appetite then I do not think it would be very good for your health or digestion. I think the factor which is important in chewing gum when one stops smoking or diets is the fact that smoking is partly a nervous habit and that chewing may slow up nibbling in-between meal snacks. It does not add to a woman's glamour. Therefore I suggest it for your hours at home, on outdoor and sports occasions but not for the drawing room.

Q. "I am 21 years old. My measurements are: Bust, 35 inches; waist, 28 inches, and hips, 36 1/2 inches. Please repeat the waist and hip exercises or tell me where I can send for them."

A. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to me in care of this newspaper.

Q. "I am 15 years old and my measurements are all right but I am bothered with an unattractive flabby midriff. Could you please give me an exercise for this?"

A. Do the following ones: (1) Stand erect with your feet separated. Bend over, letting your head and arms drop down toward

For, in tests by doctors, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering—in case after case! Complete or striking relief.

Yes! Research has proved Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern action... has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change!" So get Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or new, improved Tablets. Both are grand, too, for functional pains and "weak" feelings of monthly periods.

making yourself as long as possible. Q. "I am 13 years old and weigh only 78 pounds. I have hardly any bust and my legs are especially thin. The doctor says I am in good health. I am 5 feet 1 inch tall. How much should I weigh?" A. You probably come from a family which is just naturally lean. You are underweight though and should make every effort to gain. You should weigh about 105 pounds. Your bust will fill out as you grow older but a gain in weight will help that, too.

Mrs. Crawford was a daughter of the Rev. Charles Ladner, first resident Methodist minister in Kamloops.

Married at Recent Nuptial Service in St. John's Church

A classic gown of white velvet, fashioned with slight train to the full skirt and long lily-point sleeves, was worn by Grace Viola, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Weberg, North Quadra Street, for her marriage to Terry Patmore Walls, son of Mr. P. T. Walls and Mrs. Bert Waude.

A finger-tip veil of illusion net, lace edged, cascaded from a pearl encrusted coronet. Her ornaments were the groom's gift of a pearl necklace and earrings and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses with satin streamers.

The ceremony took place Saturday evening at St. John's Church, Rev. Canon George Biddle officiating. Frederick Chubb presided at the organ.

Mrs. Mabel Wakeham, matron of honor for her sister, chose deep blue taffeta shot with green, and carried bronze chrysanthemums and apricot roses. Miss Sylvia Weberg, her sister's bridesmaid, wore rose taffeta shot with green, and carried pink roses and white chrysanthemums. Their gowns were styled similar to that of the bride, and they had open-crowned hats of matching taffeta. Little Sharon Quick, niece of the bride, wore a long frock of light blue taffeta with the prevailing green overcast, featuring wide panels of ruffles over the hips from waist to hemline. Her poke bonnet was trimmed with flowers to match the Michaelmas daisies in her small basket.

The best man was Mr. Archie Coutts, and ushers were Mr. Bill Spedding and Mr. Rod McLeod. The reception was held in the Business and Professional Women's clubrooms.

Mrs. O. M. Wakeham played piano selections during the evening, and vocal selections were rendered by Dan Stewart.

The table, decorated with autumn chrysanthemums and lighted white candles, was centred with the cake. The toast was given by Mr. Roy Leask.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Worry Can Be Worse Than Disease Itself

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
There are undoubtedly some readers of this column who should never look at it. These are the ones with active imaginations and worrying dispositions who think they have every disease which is discussed. Some can read about their bodies and the disease which might affect them without being bothered, but those who are in constant fear and worry about getting sick cause themselves a great deal of distress and do not accomplish anything worthwhile. One should not forget that nature is a great healer. Most people who become sick, even with serious conditions, recover entirely. Others who fall ill progress to a stage where the disease has been conquered, even though some bad effects may remain. Still others may even incur serious effects such as the loss of a limb from disease or injury and yet be able to resume reasonably active and useful lives. There is another thing which people should remember when reading about the many diseases and injuries which afflict mankind. That is, even though people could get a great many diseases they never do. The chances are that the average person will encounter only a few of the serious conditions described in the books and recovery from these will take place, thanks to nature and medical or surgical treatments. The constant fear that one might catch plague, cholera, yellow fever, tuberculosis, or what-not, is far worse than the actual danger to which we are exposed. The people who are always anxious are worse off than those who use reasonable precautions and then take their chances without undue worry. The worriers become what is known as neurotics, frequently shopping around from place to place asking for an explanation for something which may exist in their minds rather than in their bodies. There is a lot of difference between being afraid of getting every disease in the medical books and knowing that such diseases exist. Also, it is good to recognize serious symptoms early so that the disease responsible can get prompt treatment. But anyone who cannot take this attitude and is in a constant sweat of fear would be better off to think and read of other things.

Salmon Yield Prospects for Future Good

Indications are good that the yield of the salmon fishing industry of this province will expand with the passing years, a fisheries commission authority told Rotarians here Thursday. The group operates under sponsorship of the governments of both Canada and the United States. It was organized in 1937 to restore the sockeye salmon run in the Fraser River watershed after it was seriously crippled by 1913 railway construction when rock was dumped into the narrow passage at Hell's Gate, he said. The commission has no power of regulation itself but co-operates fully with provincial and federal departments of fisheries, as well as the State of Washington and the U.S. Fish and Wild Life Service. American authorities are concerned because the runs of spawning salmon, headed for the Fraser, pass first through U.S. territorial waters and the success of their spawning affects the American fishing industry on a large scale. The practice of conservation, as applied when the fish ladder was installed at Hell's Gate is restoring the sockeye run at a rapid rate. The 1951 catch of sockeye was $8,200,000 greater than the catch for the "parent" year of 1947, said Mr. Jackson. He stressed the fine manner in which the two countries have worked together to solve their mutual problem.

Oak Bay Gets Plea to Help Empire Games in Vancouver

Vancouver Mayor Fred J. Hume's proposal that Oak Bay municipality help meet the cost when Vancouver is host to the British Empire Games in 1954, was referred to the incoming council Wednesday. The letter from the Vancouver mayor pointed out that the $1,373,000 anticipated outlay will serve to promote B.C. throughout the Commonwealth and the U.S.A. Vancouver has pledged $200,000, and it is hoped grants will be forthcoming from both the federal and provincial governments. Other business arising at the meeting dealt with a proposal by the municipal engineer, A. S. G. Musgrave, for a 50-50 deal with Saanich regarding a mutual drainage problem. The matter was referred to committee. A report was submitted to council by Fire Chief E. G. Clayards listing activities of his department during fire prevention week. Inspections were made of all apartments and stores, fire drills were held at the schools and talks were given on a local radio station. Chief Clayards stated that he received full co-operation from the public during the program. To date this year the department has responded to 139 alarms with a fire loss of only $380.

Convicted Driver to Observe Restrictions

Restricted driving orders accompanied a $200 fine for Kenneth L. Thompson, Brentwood Bay, when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon for sentence on a charge of driving a car while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

He had earlier pleaded guilty. Magistrate H. C. Hall, after hearing counsel Ian M. Horne's statement that accused required his car to get to and from his work, ordered that Thompson could only drive for business purposes for one year.

Full Arts Course Aim For Victoria College

Distinguished Panel Discusses Plans To Extend Education Facilities Here

A four-year arts course for Victoria College, instead of the present two-year course, was advocated by Maj. H. Cuthbert Holmes, Thursday night.

He was speaking on the "Town and Gown" panel discussion in connection with Victoria College's 50th anniversary ceremonies.

Discussing the value of the college to its community were: Mrs. H. L. Smith, wife of Harry Smith, principal of Victoria High School, and past president of the Women's Canadian Club; Col. D'Arcy Baldwin, chairman of the Labor Relations Board and a member of the senate of U.B.C.; J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools and member of Victoria College Council; Willard Ireland, provincial archivist and member of the council, and Stuart Keate, publisher of The Victoria Daily Times.

Prof. Robert T. Wallace was chairman.

STRONG SUPPORT

Mr. Keate and other panel members immediately supported Maj. Holmes' suggestion of a four-year course, stating it must be prepared soon.

They felt people of Victoria would have to prepare to spend more money now if they wished to insure an adequate college system for students 10 years hence.

"These days, with television and such forms of entertainment, anyone who is educated or reads books is considered to be an eccentric," said Mr. Keate, who deplored the effect of mass-produced entertainment.

QUALITY HIS HOPE

Colleges should strive for quality rather than quantity in the belief of Col. Baldwin.

"The country is divided basically into two parts, the professional people and the artisans. It is the professional workers, the doctors, lawyers and engineers, who need the best of the education system."

Mr. English stated people should be "educated to earn a living, to enjoy themselves and be able to enjoy their living."

Mr. Ireland suggested that the university should teach the "know why" instead of the "know how" if students are to benefit.

Opening the panel, Mrs. Smith said Victoria College "has definitely justified its existence."

Many, she said, would not have had a college education without it.

"Many years ago this was the only university between here and Toronto."

Heart Goes on 'Holiday' While Gadget Carries on

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

DETROIT, Oct. 17 (AP)—

A successful mechanical heart for humans, giving your heart a holiday, was announced today.

For 50 minutes, the amazing little machine pumped a man's blood through his body.

Rumbling like a quiet washing machine, it by-passed the left side of his heart. It de-toured the blood coming from his lungs and pulsed it back into his arteries.

Empty of blood, with no work to do, the still-beating heart was opened to repair a faulty valve.

The man, 41, is alive and well today, three months after the operation July 3.

With part of all the heart emptied, surgeons could better remove bulges or other objects, repair valves or dangerously bulging weak spots in heart walls, take out tumors, plug holes in the heart's dividing walls. The spare hearts might someday help save people whose own hearts stop.

The human success was announced in the journal of the American Medical Association by Drs. F. D. Dorrill, Edward Hill and Robert A. Gerisch of Harper Hospital here.

Princess Margaret Enjoys Chaplin Film

LONDON, Oct. 17 (Reuters).—Princess Margaret laughed and wept alternately Thursday night as she watched Charlie Chaplin's new tragic-comic film "Limelight" in its world premiere.

Afterwards in the foyer of the theatre she told the actor-director-producer-writer: "It was a lovely film. I do congratulate you most heartily."

Chaplin, bowing gracefully, took her hand in a warm grip and replied: "You have honored me greatly with your most gracious presence here tonight."

The movie ended in a storm of applause from every corner of the crowded theatre. Chaplin, who had been sitting a few yards from Princess Margaret, walked onto the stage, thanked the audience and introduced his leading lady, Claire Bloom.

The general opinion among the brilliant gathering at the premiere was that Chaplin's latest film, if not as funny as they had expected, had touched great heights of drama and artistry.

British film magnate J. Arthur Rank said he considered the film a masterpiece.

Before taking her seat in the flower-decked theatre in Leicester Square, the Princess, in a flowing gown of white lace, went downstairs to a small reception where she greeted the comedian and his family and many of their friends before a battery of movie and television cameras.

The princess was presented with a bouquet by a nine-year-old blind girl, Patricia MacDonagh, a pupil of the Royal Society for the Training and Teaching of the Blind, to which the entire premiere proceeds were devoted.

It is expected that sale of the 2,500 seats in the theatre will realize about $39,000 for the society.

Chaplin himself paid about $200 for seats for himself, his family and his friends, refusing the free tickets offered him.

STROLLING PLAYERS TO AID ARMY

OTTAWA, Oct. 17 (BUP).—The army plans to mix entertainment and instruction in an effort to produce better soldiers.

Two six-man teams of "strolling players" will go on a two-month national tour this week-end from the Canadian Army's Armored Corps school at Camp Borden, Ont.

The two teams, one heading west and the other east, will "instruct and entertain all reserve, force armored corps units as well as active force armored regiments," the army said today.

The idea is for the teams to hammer home the latest techniques "on the use of armored equipment. The entertainment will be provided by skits by team members burlesquing wrong ways of doing things.

Student Exchange Plan With Soviet Dropped

QUEBEC CITY, Oct. 17 (BUP).—Student representatives of 20 Canadian universities voted 12 to 8 Thursday night to abandon plans for a Soviet-Canadian student exchange program after Laval University said it would walk out on any association "fraternizing with the enemies of liberty."

The University of Ottawa and Dalhousie University supported Laval in the threat to quit the national federation of Canadian university students. After a 3½-hour debate, the federation's 16th annual meeting rejected the proposal.

"Russia is fighting our soldiers in Korea and I cannot in conscience serve a cocktail in my own home to anyone from that country even if he is a student," said Raymond Boulet, delegate from Laval.

The plan, under which Canadian and Russian universities would have exchanged students for two or three weeks of the year, threatened the solidarity of the federation. The plan was advanced by the University of Manitoba.

After the "walkout" threat was voiced by Laval, Dalhousie and Ottawa, Frank Muldoon of the University of Manitoba said his group was ready to revise its position.

"We prefer the presence of Laval in our federation to the presence of 10 to 12 Soviets in our camps for two or three weeks per year," Muldoon said.

Stalin Heads Russia's New Ruling Body

Præsidium Has 25 Members, 11 Others

MOSCOW, Oct. 17 (AP).—The new central committee of the Communist Party today announced the election of a præsidium of 25 members and 11 alternates headed by Joseph Stalin.

The præsidium replaces the old politburo, which formerly was the all-powerful body in the Communist Party apparatus. It also takes over the duties of the old orgburo which dealt with party organization.

The committee, a body of 125 chosen at the recent 19th party congress in the Kremlin, also announced the election of a new secretariat consisting of 10 persons, and a party control committee chairman.

Among the full members of the præsidium who were members of the politburo were Stalin, L. O. Beria, N. A. Bulganin, K. S. Voroshilov, L. M. Kaganovich, Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, A. I. Mikoyan, N. S. Khrushchev, and N. M. Shvernik, president of the supreme præsidium of the Supreme Soviet and thus the president of the Soviet Union.

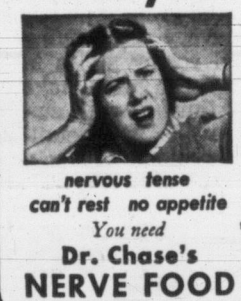

(A. A. Andreev and A. N. Kosygin, full members of the old politburo, were thus omitted as full members of the new præsidium.)

Kosygin, former member of the politburo, was listed as one of the 11 alternates on the new præsidium, however.

STAKES WINNER

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 17 (AP).—Dynamiter, a four-year-old colt owned by France's Marcel Boussac, Thursday won the champion stakes for the second successive year. Favored at 4-5 odds, Dynamiter won the one-and-one-quarter-mile race by two lengths over Tudor Castle. The victory was worth $5,600.

NEW KOREA ARMISTICE PLEA URGED BY CANADA

Martin Calls on U.N. For More Propaganda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 17 (CP)—Canada today urged the United Nations Assembly to appeal again to the Chinese Communists and North Koreans to accept a truce in Korea.

Health Minister Paul Martin called for a minimum of fighting and propaganda while an answer from the Communists is awaited. Martin told the Assembly in the session's general debate that Canada would regard the U.N. purpose of repelling aggression in Korea as having been achieved "through an honorable truce negotiated on the basis of the present battle lines."

The U.N. must never allow itself to accept continuation of the fighting one day longer than necessary, he said.

"Let us again make a solemn appeal," he said. "And with it, let us hope that by common consent there will, in the interim, be a minimum of fighting and a maximum of restraint in the propaganda war across the battle lines, so that no incident or insult will impinge on the sober consideration we expect our appeal for peace to be given."

Martin's speech was believed to foreshadow a formal resolution which Western Allies were reported ready to present in the Assembly's Political Committee which meets next Monday.

Martin said Canada "will take it as a fundamental premise that present hostilities must be limited to the Korean peninsula and that the search for an early settlement of those hostilities by negotiation at Panmunjom must be continued."

Martin did not refer directly to Russia in his 3,000-word prepared text, but he said that the goal of peace is not made easier "when one group of nations directs a deliberate and sustained campaign of hate against another group."

Iran Break With Britain Not Confirmed

LONDON, Oct. 17 (UP)—The British foreign office said late Thursday night it had not received any official confirmation of the breaking off of Anglo-Iranian relations.

Premier Mohammed Mossadeq in a broadcast to the Iranian people Thursday said he had decided to sever relations with Britain in a dispute over the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Joost told the Assembly before the vote that any discussion of racial conflict in South Africa would bring the U.N. "closer to its own disintegration."

Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia followed other delegates to the speaker's stand to slam Pearson's ruling. The Russian said the Canadian was trying to "usurp" the authority of the Assembly and that it was an "ill omen" for the session.

South African Trouble on U.N. Agenda

Pearson Beaten
On First Ruling

By N. ALSTEDTER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 17 (CP)—The United Nations Assembly today overrode bitter South African objections and voted overwhelmingly to discuss racial conflict in South Africa.

The vote was 46 to 6, with eight countries—including Canada—abstaining.

Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa recently warned that his country would withdraw from the U.N. if the world organization continued "interfering" in South African affairs.

G. P. Jooste, leader of the South African delegation, did not indicate immediately what action South Africa will take in view of the vote.

A ruling by Assembly President L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, earlier was defeated when put to the assembly by a vote of 43 to 10, with seven abstentions.

Pearson had ruled that the Assembly should vote first on a South African proposal that the Assembly was not competent to deal with the question.

Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia followed other delegates to the speaker's stand to slam Pearson's ruling. The Russian said the Canadian was trying to "usurp" the authority of the Assembly and that it was an "ill omen" for the session.

Hilliers Hit By Terrorism

Violence Follows Night Raider
Outbreaks in West Kootenays

Masked terrorists have raided Doukhobor colonies in widely separated parts of British Columbia.

Violence and terrorism—including arson, nudism and beatings by night riders—was reported today from the West Kootenays and from the quiet Doukhobor colony at Hilliers, 25 miles from Nanaimo.

The new violence has been highlighted by middle-of-the-night raids by masked men at both Hilliers and Grand Forks-Gilpin settlements in the Kootenays.

More than 50 Doukhobor men, women and children have fled their homes in the Grand Forks district, fleeing to Hilliers only to find terrorists in the island colony.

At Hilliers, three masked men burned the home of Mrs. Daisy Priestman, a Quaker, who joined the Doukhobor colony some years ago. It was a total loss.

Younger members of the colony are being sent to the Kootenays.

It was reported that other Doukhobors in the Kootenays, 250 miles east of Vancouver, plan to leave their homes and settle at the 250-acre colony on the island.

Progressive Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb may be a candidate in the next federal election if he resigns as provincial leader at Saturday's annual meeting in Vancouver.

A prominent Conservative said today that Mr. Anscomb is definitely under consideration as a federal candidate by the association's nomination committee, but Mr. Anscomb has not been approached yet.

"It's definitely in the talking stage, but no decision has been made," he said.

Everything will depend on Mr. Anscomb's action at Saturday's meeting.

Local Conservatives, closely associated with Mr. Anscomb, are convinced he will resign from the party leadership Saturday. They say he has decided against contesting the Columbia by-election.

The 1949 general election Conservative candidate was Gordon Cameron, who is now believed interested in Social Credit.

Meanwhile, no word has been received from Ottawa whether a by-election will be held to fill the vacancy left by R. W. Mayhew's appointment as ambassador to Japan. There is a possibility the seat won't be filled until next year's general election.

The names of the dead and injured are being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Defense headquarters says 19 of the 21 men were hospitalized, including the officer, a second lieutenant. One man returned to duty.

The council met behind closed doors guarded by a commissionaire.

The few delegates who would comment before entering the meeting predicted a "hot session," particularly when James Sinclair, newly appointed to the federal cabinet, rose to speak.

Mr. Sinclair and Ralph Campney also elevated to the federal cabinet this week, arrived by plane from the east.

Present party leader Byron L. "Boss" Johnson arrived with Mrs. Johnson, but was non-committal. Chairman was Mrs. J. L. Gates of Victoria, association president.

One young member said before entering the meeting: "There's only one thing to be decided, and that's the date of the convention."

"Why wait and set our convention after the Social Credit convention? We need leadership now."

Poles Propose Package Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 17 (Reuters)—Poland today proposed to the United Nations a "package" peace deal which included settlement of the Korean war, reduction of great-power armaments, ban on atomic bombs and germ warfare, and the conclusion of a big-power peace pact.

The list today included one killed and four wounded in action to bring Canada's total casualties in ground operations since the start of the Korean war to 1,105. They included 202 dead, 817 wounded, 73 injured, 12 missing and one prisoner of war. (None in today's list was from B.C.)

He said nudism has been reported at Krestova, headquarters of the radical Sons of Freedom in the Kootenays.

The move from the Kootenays, it was reported, has not received the approval of red-bearded Stefan S. Sorokin, 40-year-old spiritual leader of the Sons of Freedom.

It was reported that other Doukhobors in the Kootenays, 250 miles east of Vancouver, plan to leave their homes and settle at the 250-acre colony on the island.

Progressive Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb may be a candidate in the next federal election if he resigns as provincial leader at Saturday's annual meeting in Vancouver.

A prominent Conservative said today that Mr. Anscomb is definitely under consideration as a federal candidate by the association's nomination committee, but Mr. Anscomb has not been approached yet.

"It's definitely in the talking stage, but no decision has been made," he said.

Everything will depend on Mr. Anscomb's action at Saturday's meeting.

Local Conservatives, closely associated with Mr. Anscomb, are convinced he will resign from the party leadership Saturday. They say he has decided against contesting the Columbia by-election.

The 1949 general election Conservative candidate was Gordon Cameron, who is now believed interested in Social Credit.

Meanwhile, no word has been received from Ottawa whether a by-election will be held to fill the vacancy left by R. W. Mayhew's appointment as ambassador to Japan. There is a possibility the seat won't be filled until next year's general election.

The names of the dead and injured are being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Defense headquarters says 19 of the 21 men were hospitalized, including the officer, a second lieutenant. One man returned to duty.

The council met behind closed doors guarded by a commissionaire.

The few delegates who would comment before entering the meeting predicted a "hot session," particularly when James Sinclair, newly appointed to the federal cabinet, rose to speak.

Mr. Sinclair and Ralph Campney also elevated to the federal cabinet this week, arrived by plane from the east.

Present party leader Byron L. "Boss" Johnson arrived with Mrs. Johnson, but was non-committal. Chairman was Mrs. J. L. Gates of Victoria, association president.

One young member said before entering the meeting: "There's only one thing to be decided, and that's the date of the convention."

"Why wait and set our convention after the Social Credit convention? We need leadership now."

Two Mouths—Fisherman's Dream

Believe it or not, Lee Hallberg, radio outdoor commentator, is holding a two-mouthed fish. The fish has the head of a coho salmon; and what a head! Gertrude Paul, of Cowichan Bay, took the hungry salmon. Dr. Clifford Carl, of the Provincial Museum, will be presented with the fish, and maybe he'll find it has two stomachs.

Max Bell's Indian Hemp In Big Race at Laurel

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Seven horses from four countries will meet tomorrow at Laurel Park in the $50,000 Washington International, most ambitious race of its kind in the history of U.S. racing.

Greek Ship, to be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, is one of three U.S. horses invited to meet the foreign thoroughbreds and has been made the even money favorite. The others are Ruben, from the Hasty House Farms of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reubens, Toledo, Ohio, and Pilaster, owned by Mrs. Henry L. Strau, Baltimore.

The chief foreign threats appear to be two British horses, Zuccheri, owned by George Rolls, a bookmaker of Newbury, Berkshire, and Wilwyn, property of Robert C. Boucher, prosperous Kent fruit farmer.

Completing the field are Indian Hemp, owned by Max Bell, Canadian news publisher and oil producer, Calgary, Alberta, and Niederlander, a German derby winner, owned by Baron Henry Thyssen, German coal magnate, residing in Lugano, Switzerland.

Indian Hemp, which finished out of the money in this year's English Derby, is the only three-year-old in the field, and will carry 120 pounds, six less than the older horses. The Canadian colt will be ridden by the veteran Johnny Longden, who has ridden more than 4,000 winners, the most credited to an American jockey. Indian Hemp was quoted at 10-1.

There was no immediate indication of the whereabouts of Ryszard Cisowsky, sought with Ciesla after Aurelien Houle was slain in an attempted holdup of his restaurant-service station at Yakaska East, Sept. 25.

Anscomb May Seek Seat In Victoria

Progressive Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb may be a candidate in the next federal election if he resigns as provincial leader at Saturday's annual meeting in Vancouver.

A prominent Conservative said today that Mr. Anscomb is definitely under consideration as a federal candidate by the association's nomination committee, but Mr. Anscomb has not been approached yet.

"It's definitely in the talking stage, but no decision has been made," he said.

Everything will depend on Mr
